Republicans Reply To Al Smith Stand On Budget Power

Legislators Say Executive Budget Plan Should Go And Say Present Setup Halts Economy

Reoux Replies

Unofficial Reply Charges Voters With Supporting Stand

Albany, N. Y., April 20 (AP)—A Republican assertion that the "executive budget plan should be abolished" today answered former Democratic Governor Smith's charge that Republicans were attempting to destroy it by changing methods of listing appropriations. Smith declared yesterday that a proposal in the Republican budget-reducing program would "restore the old discredited, scandalous lump sum budget system" in favor of the present system which puts with the governor responsibility for formulating and administering the budget.

The Republican fiscal plan would prune $30,000,000 from the $115,000,000 of appropriations recommended by Governor Lehman.

Reoux explained "I am not speaking officially for the Republican party." His speech was made in almost empty chamber, however, after conferences by party leaders remaining in Albany while the remainder went to Corning, N. Y., to attend the funeral of Assemblyman Guy W. Cheney.

Democratic Assemblyman John P. Hayes, Albany, told Reoux that Republicans have a "hot potato on their hands" in this year's budget for the record size of which they were "as much to blame as Democrats."

"Republicans have controlled this Assembly for many years," he asserted, "and the executive budget could not have passed without its approval."

"This year," he continued, "you control both Assembly and Senate and wait till you start hearing from home about cuts in state aid."

Conceding in a statement issued in New York city that "economy in government is necessary and any new taxes should be studied closely," Smith said "the financial emergency should not, however, be used by ambitious and partisan legislators to destroy one of the greatest improvements in state government in our time."

He asserted, "That was declared unconstitutional 10 years ago and it's still unconstitutional."

Longest Campaign

Chicago Hotel Picketing Still Continues After Five Long Years

Chicago, April 20 (AP)—Five years ago today the Chicago Waiters Alliance, Local 25, called a strike at the Edgewater Beach Hotel and started its pickets on a parade which still persists. Union leaders call it the longest picketing campaign in American labor history.

Guy R. Swinehart, secretary of the alliance, estimated the campaign has cost the union movement more than $30,000. Six union electricians started it. They struck for a wage increase of $28 a month and the Waiters Alliance called a sympathy strike a week later.

Budget Cuts to Pare About $100,000 From County Aid

Albany, April 20, (Special).—Reductions totaling more than 30 million dollars in Governor Lehman's 1939-40 executive budget which have been proposed by Republican members of the Senate and Assembly taxation and finance committees, contain items decreasing specific allocations to state institutions in Ulster county by over $100,000, according to the GOP members' report submitted here this week.

The report, which has received approval of Republican members of both Senate and Assembly, decreases the governor's $419,491,536.41 budget to $388,450,836.51, a total decrease of $31,041,120.10.

Included in this reduction are these items affecting state institutions in Ulster county:

Wallkill Prison, Wallkill, from $391,204.97 to $354,389.97, a decrease of $36,815.

Institution for Male Defective Delinquents, Napanoch, from $610,074 to $564,249, reduction of $45,825.

State Normal School, New Paltz, from $200,130 to $183,000, reduction $17,130.

Wallkill Prison, from $22,400 of capital funds, to $21,280, reduction of $1,120.

Institution for Defective Delinquents, Napanoch, from $4,450 of capital funds to $4,300, decrease of $150.

Roosevelt Asserts Conservatism Path To Ruin for Party

Several Leaders Say Shift of Principles Would Be Signal for Millions to Change Votes

Washington, April 20 (AP)—President Roosevelt's assertion that adoption of "conservative" principles would doom the Democratic party in 1940 highlighted today appeals from administration leaders for a continuance of present policies.

"In the campaign we are now approaching there is just one agency potent enough to defeat the Democratic Party, and that is the Democratic Party itself," Mr. Roosevelt said in a letter last night to a Junior Jackson Day dinner.

"It can commit suicide by abandonment of the policies that brought it to power. There is no use fooling ourselves. If we are to have a reactionary regime—or if that term is too horrible—call it a conservative regime, you may depend on it that it will be the other fellow's regime."

Echo of Advice

The President's advice to keep "straight ahead" was echoed in addresses by Democratic Chairman Farley and Majority Leader Barkley and Rayburn of the Senate and House.

Farley said Democrats would stand on the record of the Roosevelt administration as the party's permanent platform.

Mr. Roosevelt's letter declared that neither the Republicans nor the Democrats could elect a president without winning "the ten or more millions of votes that are cast for ideas and ideals, rather than because of the emblem at the top of the ticket."

Declaring that independent voters would quit the Democrats if the party's principles were shifted, the chief executive said: "Where men are at variance with the course their party is taking, it seems to me there are only two honorable courses—to join a party that more accurately mirrors their ideas, or to subordinate their prejudices and remain loyal."

At a meeting of the congregation of the Wurts Street Baptist Church Wednesday night the resignation of the Rev. Clarence E. Brown, pastor of the church, was accepted. The resignation takes effect July 1.

Schreiber's Case Fails When Jury Gives No Verdict

Callanan Blast Trial Jury Is Discharged by Traver; Vote Is Said to Have Been Eight to Four

Trial of the negligence action by Peter J. Schreiber of South Rondout against The Callanan Road Improvement Company, Inc., of Mingo Hollow which has occupied the county court since last Wednesday came to a conclusion at 10:15 o'clock Wednesday evening when the jury which had listened to a week's testimony was unable to agree and was discharged by County Judge Frederick G. Traver.

It is understood that the jury stood eight to four and fell short of the required 10 to 2 agreement necessary for a civil trial verdict.

Jury Out 10 Hours

The discharge of the jury came after the case had been in the hands of the jury for about 10 hours. Testimony had been concluded and the summations and charge presented Wednesday morning. At 12:30 the case was sent to the jury and the twelve men and women pondered the matter until 10:15 o'clock last evening when it was said no agreement could be reached and the court directed the jurors dismissed.

Once the jury had come in and asked for further instruction. After an hour's deliberation the jury was brought in and Judge Traver instructed them that a verdict for plaintiff was to be returned if the jurors found that the Callanan Company had been negligent in the conduct of the blasting operations.

John W. DeWitt appeared for the plaintiff and Andrew J. Cook appeared for the defendant company. Mr. Schreiber, owner of a property at South Rondout, claimed his house had been damaged when the company set off blasts of some nine tons of explosives. He sought money damages from the company on the theory of negligence. The company defended the action on the grounds that no damage could be done properly by the blasts. Experts were called who testified that according to scientific study and calculations property more than 1,000 or 1,500 feet from the quarry could not be damaged.

Many Witnesses

On the part of the complainant many witnesses from this locality were called who said their property had been damaged by the vibrations from the blasts and that cracks developed in homes following blasts. There have been frequent complaints of crockery falling on shelves when blasts were set off and residents of the locality claim they have left their homes during the blasting operations because of fear that the structures would collapse.

The disagreement yesterday now leaves the case open for future trial. It is probable the matter will be retried in June.

Not only is the case of importance to Mr. Schreiber but it is also of greater importance to the defendant because on the action taken on trial of the present action will depend the action which many other persons claiming damages will take. Should Mr. Schreiber be successful there will undoubtedly be many additional claims filed.

At one time residents of the locality sought aid from the town board of Esopus in having some ordinance placed in effect which would limit the amount of explosives used at a time in order to prevent damage to surrounding property.

Osborne Tells How Vacationists Have Changed Outlook

Regions Are Taking Precedence Over Small Resorts Says Conservation Commissioner

Kiwanis Speaker Praises County Work — Bureau Faces Cut

Commissioner Lithgow Osborne of the State Conservation Department speaking before Kingston Kiwanis at noon today told Kiwanians and their guests that present day vacationists were somewhat different from those of past years. Efforts should be made to promote by regions the attractiveness of localities in the state rather than exploiting communities as vacation centers.

"Get away from the local fights and take a section as a region and shout for it," said the commissioner and he complimented Ulster county on the strides which had been made in this direction during the past couple of years. In these days of motor vehicles vacationists came to a locality which had been sold to them on its desirability as a vacation center but during their stay they motored around and took in the region. The sell New York state as a vacation land by regions rather than by small communities he advocated.

Commissioner Osborne, presented by Judge Bernard A. Culliton of the Kiwanis Educational Committee, said that Ulster county was doing well in its Apple Blossom Festival and through its Ulster County Day at the New York World's Fair. Both of the enterprises he said were selling Ulster county to the traveling public.

Clarence Rowland of the public affairs committee of Kiwanis presented Judge Culliton, who presented the speaker after President Edward M. Huben had introduced the guests of the day. The guests came from every community and locality in the county and were men who are interested in the promotion of Ulster county as a vacation center.

Among the guests were Hugh Herndon, who flew around the world with Clyde Pangborne and who is now connected with the Conservation department as the department aviator; J. L. Halpin, secretary of the department. Several local guests were introduced.

Four Successful Years

After dwelling upon the great natural and historical advantages which Ulster county possesses for the entertainment and recreation of tourists and commenting upon the need of strong regional organizations for promotional purposes, Mr. Osborne said:

"The Bureau of State Publicity is just completing four years of highly successful conduct of the work for which it was established May 8, 1935, that is, the carrying out of a publicity and advertising program to attract tourists, visitors and other interested persons to New York state."

"It is interesting, and particularly pertinent just now, to review some of the chief developments of those four years. The bureau, with the aid of other responsible agencies, conducts an annual survey of the tourist and travel business of this state. To this survey hundreds of local and regional organizations in all parts of the state contribute data, as do large travel agencies outside the state, certain bureaus of the national government and other departments of the governments of New York state. From these reliable sources are obtained figures which make possible a reasonably close estimate of the volume of this business."

Hitler Shows Off New War Machines At Birthday Rites

Foreign Observers Express Awe at Artillery Units and Extent of Army Air Defense

U. S. Vatican Diplomats Present During Reich's Display

Berlin, April 20 (AP)—Adolf Hitler proudly showed off mammoth new types of long range air defense guns under the keen eyes of the world's military observers today as part of Germany's celebration of his 50th birthday.

The artillery obviously awed foreign observers. There were no real clues as to the caliber.

Great emphasis was placed on the extensiveness of army air defense units.

Authorities enforced strict orders against photographing the new air force guns.

Four Trucks Assigned

So large were some that four trucks were assigned to carry the parts of each, one truck transporting the barrel.

A dozen or so of these weapons had the words, "fifty-five atmospheres" on them, other the words, "fifty-eight atmospheres."

Hitler looked straight ahead at most of the passing troops with his hand outstretched in the Nazi salute. But in the case of a unit of parachute jumpers, he gazed after them approvingly, even when they had long passed the stand.

Spectators wondered how much of the new equipment originated in Czechoslovakia, whose great arms works passed to German control with the dismemberment of the republic.

The United States was represented at the review by Charge d'Affaires Raymond H. Geist. The United States embassy flew the stars and stripes in keeping with the custom for such events. Britain's and France's colors also were displayed at their embassies.

Much commented on was the fact that Papi Nuncio Cesare Orsenigo headed the diplomatic corps in the grandstand directly opposite Hitler's canopied reviewing stand. The Vatican's representative was seen to use his binoculars interestedly.

Triumphant Day

It was a triumphant day in the life of the World War corporal who became "augmentor of the Reich." He was made an honorary citizen of Danzig Free City in a ceremony at the chancellery before the parade started.

So far as Danzig, part of Germany's war-lost territories, was concerned that appeared to be the only development. There is a strong movement in the Nazi-dominated city for return to the Reich and there had been rumors Danzig might be a birthday present for the fuhrer.

Forty thousand soldiers marched while an armada of 162 warplanes criss-crossed the sky.

The parade was five hours long. On either side were hundreds of thousands of spectators whose heads when Hitler stepped onto the reviewing stand were drowned out only by the roar of aerial squadrons overhead.

The fuhrer's reviewing stand was canopied and decorated in white and gold. Hitler's standard, suspended from flag poles to the right and left, introduced a note not hitherto seen in the Nazi regime.

After a regiment each from the army, navy and air force had passed, a new formation hitherto not in evidence passed the reviewing stand—a battalion of Italian flares in greenish suits. The German multitude cheered wildly at this unusual sight.

Hordes of Grasshoppers Set Upon Rich Crops in Far West

Denver, April 20 (AP)—Crop-hungry grasshoppers and crickets, which robbed western farmers of an estimated $83,400,000 last year, plagued three far western areas today while cool weather delayed their 1939 attack elsewhere in the west.

More amply warned than in the past two years, farmers in nearly all western states have organized to wage a poison campaign against the insects along the same lines that saved an estimated $176,000,000 worth of crops last year. The federal government appropriated $3,000,000. The first great horde of "hoppers" to erupt from egg pods deposited in the soil last year moved

Threats to Blow Baltimore Police Up Normandie Put French on Alert

Authorities Also Seek One Who Sent Sabotage Note; Crew of Liner Paris Questioned Today

Le Havre, France, April 20 (AP)—French authorities, working on a theory that foreign agents might have started the disastrous fire aboard the liner Paris, today sought the writer of an anonymous advance warning of sabotage.

They also continued a close questioning of the ship's crew.

Officials denied a persistent rumor that a bomb had been found aboard the French Line flagship, Normandie, two days ago, but Minister of Merchant Marine Louis De Chappedelaine acknowledged there had been threats to blow up the great liner.

Cordon of Guards

The Normandie, ringed by a cordon of mobile guardsmen, was in drydock for a propeller change, only a short distance from the partly submerged wreck of the Paris.

Two men were killed in the 13-hour battle with flames, ended yesterday morning when the 34,000-ton Paris listed and half sank at her dock.

Police said the author of an anonymous note posted at Nice, two days before the fire, apparently was a woman. Authorities at Nice appealed to the writer to come forward and aid in the investigation.

The letter, signed "VVBBC-32" and received by the mobile guard, reported a conversation overheard in a Nice hotel in which two persons were said to have plotted sabotage against vessels at Le Havre.

Some Blame Foreigners

Sections of the French press laid the fire to foreign agents, charging they wished to break down the prestige of the French Line.

Some newspapers pointed to the fact that the Paris was being used to transport military supplies manufactured in the United States—such as the cargo of 40 warplanes for the French army which were removed yesterday just before the Paris listed.

It also was pointed out in the press that the Paris would be valuable because of her speed and size in the carrying of colonial troops in wartime.

Would Cost 10 Millions

Some chains still bound the Paris to the quay today. Salvagers said it would be a long and difficult job to save what was left of the ship. French Line officials estimated the cost of rebuilding at about $10,000,000. The Paris had been insured for about $2,500,000.

Several modern paintings from a $300,000 cargo of art objects consigned for exhibit at the New York World's Fair were lost. Some valuable manuscripts from the National Library also were believed lost.

Held in Contempt

New York, April 20 (AP)—General Sessions Judge Morris Koenig today held Leo Kamell, of 26 East street, Yonkers, N. Y., president of the MAK Fruit and Vegetable Stores, Inc., of Yonkers, in contempt, and sentenced him to 30 days in the Tombs.

Rome-Berlin Axis Should Not Be Placed on Seat of Accused

(By The Associated Press) Premier Mussolini today answered "no" to President Roosevelt's plea for guarantees of 10 years of non-aggression.

Mussolini made known his response to the President's six-day-old proposal at a committee meeting of the 1942 Rome Universal Exposition. He reaffirmed Italy's peaceful intentions, declared guarantees were unnecessary and claimed the suggestion that they be made "unjust."

No Attack Planned

"We do not intend to attack anyone," Il Duce said. "It is therefore absolutely unjust and unjustifiable from any point of view to attempt to place nations of the (Rome-Berlin) axis on the seat of the accused."

"No less absurd is the proposal of reciprocal guarantees lasting ten years which do not take into account the pyramidal errors of geography."

"It is time to reduce to silence the sowers of panic, anticipators of catastrophe, professional fatalists. We do not allow ourselves to be impressed by press campaigns or convivial vociferations, or by messiah-like messages because we have a tranquil conscience."

Real Service

In Paris, French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet told the American Club "your president has rendered a real service to all" in his appeal amid growing world anxiety and urged that all governments meet it by renouncing military aggression.

In London, Prime Minister Chamberlain announced appointment of a minister of supply charged with equipping Britain's growing defense forces.

At Ankara, Turkey, the newspaper "Yakit," reported conclusion of negotiations for a British-Turkish mutual assistance and non-aggression pact.

Among Axis Allies On the axis side, Hungary was considered in Rome to be among its allies after conversations there with Hungarian Count Paul Teleky and Count Stephen Csaky, his foreign minister. The Hungarian diplomats, who leave tonight for Berlin, were received by Pope Pius XII.

Government circles in Sofia, Bulgaria, reported that Bulgaria had notified Rumania of claims to territory. Bulgaria was understood to want part of Dobruja, a former Bulgarian region on the Black Sea.

Pope's Prayer

Pope Pius XII today asked for a "crusade of prayer" throughout the world during the month of May in behalf of "greatly longed for Christian peace among all nations and peoples."

The pontiff made his appeal in a letter to his secretary of state, Luigi Cardinal Maglione.

He recalled that immediately after his election as pope and again in his Easter homily he had exhorted "all nations and governments to sentiments of justice and charity in order to consolidate profoundly and permanently greatly longed for Christian peace among all nations and peoples."

Persistent Bandit Meets Death When He Comes Back for Full Sum

Houston, Tex., April 20 (AP)—A bandit so persistent he held up the same grocery store three times in five nights met his death before a double charge of buckshot.

The man robbed a grocery of $30 Saturday night. The proprietor's wife, not knowing her husband had taken $28 from the cash register, reported the loss as $58. The bandit read the story in the newspapers. He came back Monday night and demanded the other $28. He got $20. Last night he returned to collect the $8 "balance."

Proprietor R. E. Marshall, was waiting with a loaded shotgun. When the man drew a pistol and demanded the $8 from a clerk, Marshall let him have both barrels.

Albany, N. Y., April 20 (AP)—A Republican assertion that the "executive budget plan should be abolished" today answered former Democratic Governor Smith's charge that Republicans were attempting to destroy it by changing methods of listing appropriations. Smith declared yesterday that a proposal in the Republican budget-reducing program would "restore the old discredited, scandalous lump sum budget system" in favor of the present system which puts with the governor responsibility for formulating and administering the budget.

Reoux Replies

"Until the making of the budget and direction of spending is again lodged with the same body that makes appropriations," Republican Assemblyman Harry A. Reoux, Warren county, said, "we never again can hope to have continued economy in the government of this state."

"If I had my way," he asserted, "I would abolish the executive budget tomorrow. Under it costs have increased by leaps and bounds."

Not Speaking Officially

Reoux explained "I am not speaking officially for the Republican party." His speech was made in almost empty chamber, however, after conferences by party leaders remaining in Albany while the remainder went to Corning, N. Y., to attend the funeral of Assemblyman Guy W. Cheney.

Schreiber's Case Fails When Jury Gives No Verdict

Callanan Blast Trial Jury Is Discharged by Traver; Vote Is Said to Have Been Eight to Four

Trial of the negligence action by Peter J. Schreiber of South Rondout against The Callanan Road Improvement Company, Inc., of Mingo Hollow which has occupied the county court since last Wednesday came to a conclusion at 10:15 o'clock Wednesday evening when the jury which had listened to a week's testimony was unable to agree and was discharged by County Judge Frederick G. Traver.

It is understood that the jury stood eight to four and fell short of the required 10 to 2 agreement necessary for a civil trial verdict.

Jury Out 10 Hours

The discharge of the jury came after the case had been in the hands of the jury for about 10 hours. Testimony had been concluded and the summations and charge presented Wednesday morning. At 12:30 the case was sent to the jury and the twelve men and women pondered the matter until 10:15 o'clock last evening when it was said no agreement could be reached and the court directed the jurors dismissed.

Once the jury had come in and asked for further instruction. After an hour's deliberation the jury was brought in and Judge Traver instructed them that a verdict for plaintiff was to be returned if the jurors found that the Callanan Company had been negligent in the conduct of the blasting operations.

John W. DeWitt appeared for the plaintiff and Andrew J. Cook appeared for the defendant company.

Mr. Schreiber, owner of a property at South Rondout, claimed his house had been damaged when the company set off blasts of some nine tons of explosives. He sought money damages from the company on the theory of negligence. The company defended the action on the grounds that no damage could be done to property by the blasts. Experts were called who testified that according to scientific study and calculations property more than 1,000 or 1,500 feet from the quarry could not be damaged.

Many Witnesses

On the part of the complainant many witnesses from this locality were called who said their property had been damaged by the vibrations from the blasts and that cracks developed in homes following blasts. There have been frequent complaints of crockery dancing on shelves when blasts were set off and residents of the locality claim they have left their homes during the blasting operations because of fear that the structures would collapse.

The disagreement yesterday now leaves the case open for future trial. It is probable the matter will be retried in June.

Not only is the case of importance to Mr. Schreiber but it is also of greater importance to the defendant because on the action taken on trial of the present action will depend the action which many other persons claiming damages will take. Should Mr. Schreiber be successful there will undoubtedly be many additional claims filed.

At one time residents of the locality sought aid from the town board of Esopus in having some ordinance placed in effect which would limit the amount of explosives used at a time in order to prevent damage to surrounding property.

Forty thousand soldiers marched while an armada of 162 warplanes criss-crossed the sky.

The parade was five hours long. On either side were hundreds of thousands of spectators whose heels when Hitler stepped onto the reviewing stand were drowned out only by the roar of aerial squadrons overhead.

The Fuehrer's reviewing stand was canopied and decorated in white and gold. Hitler's standard suspended from flag poles to the right and in front, introduced a note not hitherto seen in the Nazi regime.

After a regiment each from the army, navy and air force had passed, a new formation hitherto not in evidence passed the reviewing stand—a battalion of Italian officers in greenish suits. The German multitude cheered wildly at this unusual sight.

Roosevelt Boy, Friend Killed

Daniel S. Roosevelt, (left) son of G. Hall Roosevelt and nephew of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, and his fellow Harvard student, Bronson Harriman (Fete) Rumsey, (right) were killed when their plane crashed near Guadalupe Victoria, Puebla, Mexico. The young men are shown in Rumsey's plane at Roosevelt Field, New York, just before they began their fatal trip to Mexico.

Threats to Blow Up Normandie Put French on Alert

Authorities Also Seek One Who Sent Sabotage Note; Crew of Linc Paris Questioned Today

Le Havre, France, April 20 (AP)—French authorities, working on a theory that foreign agents might have started the disastrous fire aboard the liner Paris, today sought the writer of an anonymous advance warning of sabotage.

They also continued a close questioning of the ship's crew.

Officials denied a persistent rumor that a bomb had been found aboard the French Line flagship, Normandie, two days ago, but Minister of Merchant Marine Louis De Chappedelaine acknowledged there had been threats to blow up the great liner.

Cordon of Guards

The Normandie, ringed by a cordon of mobile guardmen, was in drydock for a propeller change, only a short distance from the partly submerged wreck of the Paris.

Two men were killed in the 13-hour battle with flames, ended yesterday morning when the 31,000-ton Paris listed and half sank at her dock.

Police said the author of an anonymous note posted at Nice, two days before the fire, apparently was a woman. Authorities at Nice appealed to the writer to come forward and aid in the investigation.

The letter, signed "VVB-32" and received by the mobile guard, reported a conversation overheard in a Nice hotel in which two persons were said to have plotted sabotage against vessels at Le Havre.

Some Blame Foreigners

Sections of the French press laid the fire to foreign agents, charging they wished to break down the prestige of the French Line.

Some newspapers pointed to the fact that the Paris was being used to transport military supplies manufactured in the United States—such as the cargo of 10 warplanes for the French army which were removed yesterday just before the Paris listed.

It also was pointed out in the press that the Paris would be valuable because of her speed and size in the carrying of colonial troops in wartime.

Would Cost 10 Millions
Some chains still bound the Paris to the quay today. Salvagers said it would be a long and difficult job to save what was left of the ship. French Line officials estimated the cost of rebuilding at about $10,000,000. The Paris had been insured for about $2,500,000.

Several modern paintings from a $500,000 cargo of art objects consigned for exhibit at the New York World's Fair were lost.

Some valuable manuscripts from the National Library also were believed lost.

Held in Contempt

New York, April 20 (AP)—General Sessions Judge Morris Koenig today held Leo Kamell, of 26 East street, Yonkers, N. Y., president of the MAK Fruit and Vegetable Stores, Inc., of Yonkers, in contempt, and sentenced him to 30 days in the Tombs.

Geographic Errors Make FDR's Plea Absurd, He Says

Mussolini Reaffirms Italy's Peaceful Intentions, Says Nation Has No Idea of Attacking

Spurns Blame

Rome-Berlin Axis Should Not Be Placed on Seat of Accused

(By The Associated Press)
Premier Mussolini today answered "no" to President Roosevelt's plea for guarantees of 10 years of non-aggression.

Mussolini made known his response to the President's six-day-old proposal at a committee meeting of the 1942 Rome Universal Exposition. He reaffirmed Italy's peaceful intentions, declared guarantees were unnecessary and claimed the suggestion that they be made "unjust."

No Attack Planned

"We do not intend to attack anyone," Il Duce said. "It is therefore absolutely unjust and unjustifiable from any point of view to attempt to place nations of the (Rome-Berlin) axis on the seat of the accused."

"No less absurd is the proposal of reciprocal guarantees lasting ten years which do not take into account the pyramidal errors of geography."

"It is time to reduce to silence the sowers of panic, anticipators of catastrophe, professional fatalists. We do not allow ourselves to be impressed by press campaigns or convivial vociferations, or by messiah-like messages because we have a tranquil conscience."

'Real Service'

In Paris, French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet told the American Club "your president has rendered a real service to all" in his appeal amid growing world anxiety and urged that all governments meet it by renouncing military aggression.

In London, Prime Minister Chamberlain announced appointment of a minister of supply charged with equipping Britain's growing defense forces.

At Ankara, Turkey, the newspaper "Vakit," reported conclusion of negotiations for a British-Turkish mutual assistance and non-aggression pact.

Among Axis' Allies

On the axis side, Hungary was considered in Rome to be among its allies after conversations there with Hungarian Count Paul Teleky and Count Stephen Csaky, his foreign minister. The Hungarian diplomats, who leave tonight for Berlin, were received by Pope Pius XII.

Government circles in Sofia, Bulgaria, reported that Bulgaria had notified Rumania of claims to territory. Bulgaria was understood to want part of Dobruja, a former Bulgarian region on the Black Sea.

Pope's Prayer

Pope Pius XII today asked for a "crusade of prayer" throughout the world during the month of May in behalf of "greatly longed for Christian peace among all nations and people."

The pontiff made his appeal in a letter to his secretary of state, Luigi Cardinal Maglione. He recalled that immediately after his election as pope and again in his Easter homily he had exhorted "all nations and their governments to sentiments of justice and charity in order to consolidate profoundly and permanently greatly longed for Christian peace among all nations and people."

Both Barrels

Persistent Bandit Meets Death When He Comes Back for Full Sum

Houston, Tex., April 20 (AP)—A bandit so persistent he held up the same grocery store three times in five nights met his death before a double charge of buckshot.

The man robbed a grocery of $30 Saturday night. The proprietor's wife, not knowing her husband had taken $25 from the cash register, reported the loot as $38.

The bandit read the story in the newspapers. He came back Monday night and demanded the other $28.

He got $20.

Last night he returned to collect the $8 "balance."

Proprietor R. B. Marshall, was waiting with a loaded shotgun. When the man drew a pistol and demanded the $8 from a clerk, Marshall let him have both barrels.

Kansan Advises Editors To Save Steam For Europe

Washington, April 20 (AP)—William Allen White advised America's newspaper editors today to reserve their "excess steam heat" for Stalin, Mussolini and Hitler and "not emote too heavily" about political issues at home.

The noted editor of the Emporia (Kans.) Gazette and president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, said he was not speaking about old-line political controversies but about fundamental new questions involving property rights.

White made the suggestion in a speech prepared for the opening session of the society's convention, during which he called American newspapers "the most dependable source of public information."

"In this country," he said, "American journalism, with all its faults, and there are many, is the only free, unfettered, unbossed, unlicensed vehicle through which one way or another finally and surely the truth comes to the American people."

Cotton planting usually begins on a large scale the week after Easter in the deep south.

Art to Be Shown For Home Bureau

Woodstock, April 20.—When the Eastern District Federation of Home Bureaus spends the afternoon of May 4 in Woodstock as guests of the local Home Bureau, they will be welcomed at a reception in the Woodstock Art Gallery, where there will be shown two exhibitions of Woodstock paintings.

One is a loan exhibition being collected by Carl Eric Linden, president of the Woodstock Artists' Association, of some of the finest Woodstock paintings from a period of about 15 or 20 years ago when the first struggles for freedom of expression were becoming important in the Woodstock colony, as well as all over the country.

During this period there were on one side the academicians, seeking to hold their ground to the exclusion of a younger school; and on the other the moderns waging a winning battle for recognition of their newer expressions.

On the same afternoon the state's "Art Caravan" will present an outdoor exhibition with its full equipment for a traveling exhibition. The caravan carries work done on Woodstock and New York city art projects. The collection arranged for May 4 will contain 12 oil paintings, a number of prints, Index and Design plates, water colors and sculpture.

Watson to Speak To Peace League

A former newspaper man whose dismissal for union activity became a "test case" before the United States Supreme Court on the constitutionality of the Wagner Labor Relations Act, will be heard in this city next Monday evening when Morris Watson of New York city speaks at the Uptown Community Center.

A "re-write" man employed by the Associated Press, Mr. Watson was discharged because of union activity. He appealed his case under the Wagner Act until finally it was carried before the justices of the Supreme Court, becoming the first case of its kind to reach that tribunal. The court ruled in favor of Mr. Watson, thereby upholding the constitutionality of the Wagner Act, and the Associated Press was ordered to reinstate him with back pay. Mr. Watson returned to work for one week, then resigned to accept a position which he now holds as international vice-president of the American Newspaper Guild.

Speaking at the Uptown Community Center next Monday night under the auspices of the Kingston branch of the American League for Peace and Democracy, Mr. Watson will discuss the subject, "Why the Wagner Act Should Not Be Amended." The meeting, which is public, is scheduled to start at 8:30 o'clock.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, APRIL 20, 1939.

CROSSING ELIMINATIONS

Grade crossing eliminations in the city of Kingston have been a topic here for over a quarter of a century. It has been the theme of many a speech and much newsprint has been used in writing about it, but the crossings remain. Approval of the Wicks' bill to carry out the grade crossing amendment, which was approved by the voters of New York state at the last election, has revived action here.

Announcement that $4,375,000 has been allocated for the crossing elimination project here by the Public Service Commission is indeed encouraging, but there is no assurance that the proposed plan, which was unopposed by local citizens, will be accepted by the commission or by the State Highway Department. As Corporation Counsel Cashin pointed out at the public hearing: "No one could say at this time what action the Public Service Commission would take. They might and could revise the estimates and make changes in the plan; they might and could decide not to place the plan in operation."

With this in mind it would seem that the cooperation of all interested citizens is needed. And it is not too much to hope that all will be sufficiently impressed to furnish convincing proof that they will cooperate. If a grade crossing elimination program ever gets underway in this city civic spirit will have to be genuinely displayed. And civic spirit is not a poetic phrase. It is something that is real and indispensable to the commercial, industrial and social well-being of the community. Through civic spirit a community becomes progressive and prosperous. Without it a city may as well close shop. Properly developed it is the biggest thing for the general welfare of the community. Everybody should get in back of the plan to eliminate these hazards to life and limb. The grade crossings are a drawback to the city and they should have been eliminated long ago.

For over twenty-five years the dangerous character of the railroad crossings has been discussed and admitted everywhere. The Broadway crossing, which is a death trap, has periodically aroused citizens but the many plans submitted for its elimination have only resulted in rejection. The most recent tragedy at the Broadway crossing was the deaths of our local firemen in May, 1937. There was a great stir at this time, but the crossing remains.

Railroad crossing eliminations throughout the state have been held up for years because of the financial difficulties of the railroads, which were required to pay approximately half of the cost. Under the present law the state will shoulder the heavy burden for the entire cost. The railroads will be required to pay up to fifteen per cent. The county, which formerly was required to pay about one per cent, will not contribute to the expense.

WORKERS' VACATIONS

The annual paid vacation, formerly regarded as due only to professional employees, is spreading rapidly in this country. A recent study covering more than 200 companies which employ more than a million workers shows a growingly liberal policy regarding eligibility, time off and pay allowance.

In three-fourths of the plans the wage-earners are all qualified for at least a moderate vacation privilege. Many companies now grant vacation allowances even after layoff or resignation. The idea has grown rapidly, that vacation isn't merely a gift from the employer but something earned by the employee. The vacations are "staggered" over several months, to prevent serious interruption of work, and the length of time allowed is usually determined by the length of employment.

The general view of the employers regarding such a policy is that, while it may seem expensive, it is worth while in the stimulation of efficiency and good will.

Incidentally, this labor-vacation policy has been rather general in foreign countries for many years. Even the dictatorship countries have it.

TAKES BACKBONE TO ECONOMIZE

The State Budget Emergency Committee sees the backbone of spending broken in New York state through the recommendation of the Senate and Assembly Committees on Finance and Taxes to reduce the record high budget by $31,041,000.

The committee urges every citizen interested in the state's welfare to send congratulations and pledges of support to the Majority Legislative Committee for breaking the spending chain. The threat of an all-time high budget has been dispelled. Substituted for a continuing spending program is a continuing economy which means the great State of New York has really taken the lead for economy. The whole country, which has been watching budget developments in New York state for more than two months, will not fail to realize what has been done. This action may well set the tempo for economy throughout the nation.

It takes courage for lawmakers to economize when the nation seems to have blinded itself to the ruin that must eventually result from continued spending beyond our means to pay. Spending, like a disease, breeds greater spending and will lead to bankruptcy if long enough continued. Despite this truth and the fact that nobody wants to pay more taxes, there are strong groups opposing every proposal to cut expenditures.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of other good men.

Any of the militarist powers could tell us what that gold buried in Kentucky is good for.

Anyhow, the baseball season has opened as usual.

DIET CAN PROLONG LIFE

When a diet—both quality and quantity (meat, eggs, fish, milk, certain cereals, fruits, and vegetables)—has been used in a family for a number of generations and the family has thrived on it, generation after generation, it might quite properly be called an adequate or sufficient diet. But the only way it could be learned whether any improvement could be made on this diet would be by adding or taking away from it, in quantity or variety. It would then be found whether the members of the family improved or failed in health by the changes made.

"Prof. H. C. Sherman keeps rats for twenty-seven generations on a uniform diet, thus showing that the diet was entirely adequate or sufficient. Yet it was shown upon enriching this apparently adequate diet by increasing the proportion of milk in it that an improvement resulted in the general condition of the rats. There was more and efficient growth, lower death rate, higher mentality for all ages, an increase of ten per cent in the average life span of the adults and a greater extension of the 'prime of life,' that is, they developed earlier and yet old age was delayed."

In referring to Dr. Sherman's experiment, Dr. E. W. H. Cruikshank, Aberdeen University, in his book "Food and Physical Fitness" says:

"Hereditary does, and always will, play an important part in determining stature (growth) and health; climate also plays a part, even if a small part, in determining physical and mental characteristics, and it must now be accepted that diet also plays a part, in fact, some believe a more important part than both heredity and climate combined."

I have spoken before of the two African tribes, living side by side, one vegetarian (cereals, tubers, peas, beans, green leaves) and the other meat eaters—meat, milk, blood, bananas, beans, maize and millet. At every age the meat-milk-banana eaters are taller and heavier than the vegetarians.

"These experiments on animals and the experiments upon themselves show clearly how important are first class proteins (meat, milk), vitamins, and mineral salts (green vegetables)."

If a little more milk, and perhaps a little more meat, eggs, or fish are added to the diet of the growing child or the adult who works or plays hard (doesn't sit at a desk all day) it might be all that is needed to give the optimum diet (best diet for the individual).

Boulder, Colo. (AP)—A college graduate should expect to start at almost any salary but he can work his way upward steadily, a University of Colorado survey indicates. Questionnaires sent to all the graduates in classes during the period from 1928 to 1935 showed that in 1936 they were making an average of $1,750 each, with the women averaging $1,500 and the men $2,000. Salaries ranged from $500 a year to $4,000 "and more," but only the classes of 1928-29 had women representatives in the $4,000 group.

Carlsbad, N. M. (AP)—Thanks to a congressional investigation, the cost of elevator rides in Carlsbad Caverns are on the decline. Immediately after an inquiry, the National Park Service announced the charge was being reduced from 50 to 25 cents. Col. Thomas Boles, cavern superintendent, said he favored the 50-cent fee because a lower price encouraged too many people to ride. Thus, he said, they missed seeing many of the points of interest.

Plan to Permit German Children to Enter This Country Has Stirred Up Scattering Opposition

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1939)

Washington, April 20—Catholic and Protestant clergymen of prominence have joined in asking Congress that 10,000 children of Germans affected by religious and political persecution be permitted to enter the United States in each of the years 1939 and 1940.

Hearings on a bill to make this possible begin today. Some of the sponsors of the movement are Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, Canon Anson Phelps Stokes of the Protestant Episcopal Church, Governor Lehman of New York, President Hutchins of the University of Chicago and President Ray Lyman Wilbur of Leland Stanford University. Herbert Hoover, former Governor of Kansas, Frank Knox of Massachusetts, Harry Emerson Fosdick, Mary E. Woolley, and George Rublee, who represented the United States in the negotiations with Germany recently with reference to refugees.

The plan is, of course, wholly a humanitarian measure, but it has stirred up some scattering opposition on the part of those who feel that the children, when grown, would be competitors of American-born children.

The legislation is backed by Senator Bob Wagner of New York, Democrat, and Representative Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, Republican, and will be considered in a non-partisan way.

In Washington, "The Pathfinder," a weekly publication of large circulation throughout the country, which has been conducting a campaign in behalf of the bill, says:

"According to the best estimates available, there are about 75,000 German children in distress. Such authoritative sources as the American Friends Service Committee say that America's proposed total of 20,000 admissions could be chosen from 50,000 of the 75,000 distress. Approximately only half of these 50,000 are Jews, the rest being in Nazi disfavor because they may have one or more Jewish grandparents or because their parents are politically outlawed. This means that all faiths are represented and that all groups in the United States have reason to take active interest in the Wagner-Rogers proposal."

"Of the hundreds of thousands of Europeans who are refugees or potential refugees, the children arouse the greatest sympathy. With life still stretching before them, they find themselves short of opportunity, short of education and in some cases short even of the right to play, the right to enjoy sun and grass."

Traditionally, the United States has opened its arms to refugees escaping persecution for political or religious reasons ever since the days when the pilgrim fathers arrived from England and the Huguenots from France to avoid the intolerance of the old world. The gesture of the United States in admitting 10,000 children in each of two years is a small part of the general solution of the refugee problem which confronts the world, but it would be worth doing if only to continue uninterrupted the tradition of the republic to afford political asylum to those whose lives are threatened because of race or religion or political beliefs.

mate idea of the number to be vaccinated will be obtained. A toxoid clinic is also planned for the latter part of May and a tuberculosis test will be held the last of May.

The Vestry which served last year were re-elected last week when the annual congregational meeting of Christ Episcopal Church was held in the church rectory. Annual reports were also given at this meeting. Those who were elected to serve for another term of office were: Raymond Wygant, rector; William C. Andrews, Junior Warden; Albert C. Marks, secretary; Wilson McLean, treasurer; James Hoberle, Harry Masten, Adison Wilkoff, Charles E. Morell and Noel Armstrong.

If you want good beer...

good word—"Malt"

You'll find a difference in Trommer's, the Malt Beer! It's brewed unlike most other domestic beers, but like imported beers—of hops and malt and no other grain. It costs us more to make Trommer's that way, but you pay no more. And the difference in flavor you can judge for yourself. Simply Taste and Compare!

TROMMER'S

talk of the town

Hers were the recipes that never failed! Of course, her mayonnaise "took" lots of eggs and oil and spices and a long, long time to beat! Today that selfsame recipe makes Ivanhoe Mayonnaise—rich, creamy, chock-full of teasing flavor—THE mayonnaise when salads must be tops!

And her fragrant, racy "boiled" dressing—now Ivanhoe Salad Dressing—hasn't been changed either—not by a pinch of salt! It's still flooded with that homey, spicy flavor which dresses up family salads. Praise be! Premium's economical enough to use plenty every day. Both at good grocers'.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, APRIL 20, 1939.

CROSSING ELIMINATIONS

Grade crossing eliminations in the city of Kingston have been a topic here for over a quarter of a century. It has been the theme of many a speech and much newspaper has been used in writing about it, but the crossings remain. Approval of the Wicks' bill to carry out the grade crossing amendment, which was approved by the voters of New York state at the last election, has revived action here.

Announcement that $4,375,000 has been allocated for the crossing elimination project here by the Public Service Commission is indeed encouraging, but there is no assurance that the proposed plan, which was unopposed by local citizens, will be accepted by the commission or by the State Highway Department. As Corporation Counsel Cashion pointed out at the public hearing: "No one could say at this time what action the Public Service Commission would take. They might and could revise the estimates and make changes in the plan; they might and could decide not to place the plan in operation."

With this in mind it would seem that the cooperation of all interested citizens is needed. And it is not too much to hope that all will be sufficiently impressed to furnish convincing proof that they will cooperate. If a grade crossing elimination program ever gets underway in this city civic spirit will have to be genuinely displayed. And civic spirit is not a poetic phrase. It is something that is real and indispensable to the commercial, industrial and social well-being of the community. Through civic spirit a community becomes progressive and prosperous. Without it a city may as well close shop. Properly developed it is the biggest thing for the general welfare of the community. Everybody should get in back of the plan to eliminate these hazards to life and limb. The grade crossings are a drawback to the city and they should have been eliminated long ago.

For over twenty-five years the dangerous character of the railroad crossings has been discussed and admitted everywhere. The Broadway crossing, which is a death trap, has periodically aroused citizens but the many plans submitted for its elimination have only resulted in rejection. The most recent tragedy at the Broadway crossing was the deaths of our local firemen in May, 1937. There was a great stir at this time, but the crossing remains.

Railroad crossing eliminations throughout the state have been held up for years because of the financial difficulties of the railroads, which were required to pay approximately half of the cost. Under the present law the state will shoulder the heavy burden for the entire cost. The railroads will be required to pay up to fifteen per cent. The county, which formerly was required to pay about one per cent, will not contribute to the expense.

WORKERS' VACATIONS

The annual paid vacation, formerly regarded as due only to professional employees, is spreading rapidly in this country. A recent study covering more than 200 companies which employ more than a million workers shows a growingly liberal policy regarding eligibility, time off and pay allowance.

In three-fourths of the plans the wage-earners are all qualified for at least a moderate vacation privilege. Many companies now grant vacation allowances even after layoff or resignation. The idea has grown rapidly, that vacation isn't merely a gift from the employer but something earned by the employee. The vacations are "staggered" over several months, to prevent serious interruption of work, and the length of time allowed is usually determined by the length of employment.

The general view of the employers regarding such a policy is that, while it may seem expensive, it is worth while in the stimulation of efficiency and good will.

Incidentally, this labor-vacation policy has been rather general in foreign countries for many years. Even the dictatorship countries have it.

TAKES BACKBONE TO ECONOMIZE

The State Budget Emergency Committee sees the backbone of spending broken in New York state through the recommendation of the Senate and Assembly Committees on Finance and Taxes to reduce the record high budget by $31,041,000.

The committee urges every citizen interested in the state's welfare to send congratulations and pledges of support to the Majority Legislative Committee for breaking the spending chain. The threat of an all-time high budget has been dispelled. Substituted for a continuing spending program is a continuing economy which means the great State of New York has really taken the lead for economy. The whole country, which has been watching budget developments in New York state for more than two months, will not fail to realize what has been done. This action may well set the tempo for economy throughout the nation.

It takes courage for lawmakers to economize when the nation seems to have blinded itself to the ruin that must eventually result from continued spending beyond our means to pay. Spending, like a disease, breeds greater spending and will lead to bankruptcy if long enough continued. Despite this truth and the fact that nobody wants to pay more taxes, there are strong groups opposing every proposal to cut expenditures.

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of other good men.

Any of the militarist powers could tell us what that gold buried in Kentucky is good for.

Anyhow, the baseball season has opened as usual.

DIET CAN PROLONG LIFE

When a diet—both quality and quantity (meat, eggs, fish, milk, certain cereals, fruits, and vegetables)—has been used in a family for a number of generations and the family has thrived on it, generation after generation, it might quite properly be called an adequate or sufficient diet. But the only way it could be learned whether any improvement could be made on this diet would be by adding or taking away from it, in quantity or variety. It would then be found whether the members of the family improved or failed in health by the changes made.

"Prof. H. C. Sherman keeps rats for twenty-seven generations on a uniform diet, thus showing that the diet was entirely adequate or sufficient. Yet it was shown upon enriching this apparently adequate diet by increasing the proportion of milk in it that an improvement resulted in the general condition of the rats. There was more and efficient growth, lower death rate, higher mentality for all ages, an increase of ten per cent in the average life span of the adults and a greater extension of the 'prime of life,' that is, they developed earlier and yet old age was delayed."

In referring to Dr. Sherman's experiment, Dr. E. W. H. Cruikshank, Aberdeen University, in his book "Food and Physical Fitness" says: "Hereditarily does, and always will, play an important part in determining stature (growth) and health; climate also plays a part, even if a small part, in determining physical and mental characteristics, and it must now be accepted that diet also plays a part, in fact, some believe a more important part than both heredity and climate combined."

I have spoken before of the two African tribes, living side by side, one vegetarian (cereals, tubers, peas, beans, green leaves) and the other meat eaters—meat, milk, blood, bananas, maize and millet. At every age the meat-milk-banana eaters are taller and heavier than the vegetarians.

The experiments on animals and the experiments upon themselves show clearly how important are first class proteins (meat, milk), vitamins and mineral salts (green vegetables).

Boulder, Colo., April 19.—A college graduate should expect to start at almost any salary but he can work his way upward easily. A University of Colorado survey indicates. Questionnaires sent to all the graduates in classes during the period from 1928 to 1935 showed that in 1936 they were making an average of $1,750 each, with the women averaging $1,500 and the men $2,000. Salaries ranged from $500 a year to $4,000 "and more," but only the classes of 1928-29 had women representatives in the $4,000 group.

Carlsbad, N. M., April 19.—Thanks to a congressional investigation, the cost of elevator rides in Carlsbad Caverns are on the decline. Immediately after an inquiry, the National Park Service announced the charge was being reduced from 50 to 25 cents. Col. Thomas E. Cole, cavern superintendent, said he favored the 50-cent fee because a lower price encouraged too many people to ride. Thus, he said, they missed seeing many of the points of interest.

Plan to Permit German Children to Enter This Country Has Stirred Up Scattering Opposition

By DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1939)
Washington, April 20.—Catholic and Protestant clergymen of prominence have joined in asking Congress that 10,000 children of Germans affected by religious and political persecution be permitted to enter the United States in each of the years 1939 and 1940.

Hearings on a bill to make this possible began today. Some of the sponsors of the movement are Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago, Canon Anson Phelps Stokes of the Protestant Episcopal Church, Governor Lehman of New York, President Hutchins of the University of Chicago and President Ray Lyman Wilbur of Leland Stanford University. Herbert Hoover, former Governor of London, Frank Knox of Chicago, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, Mary C. Woolley, and George Rublee, who represented the United States in the negotiations with Germany recently with reference to refugees.

The plan is, of course, wholly a humanitarian measure, but it has stirred up some scattering opposition on the part of those who feel that the children, when grown, would be competitors of American-born children. The legislation is backed by Senator Bob Wagner of New York, Democrat, and Representative Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, Republican, and will be considered in a non-partisan way.

In Washington, "The Pathfinder," a weekly publication of large circulation throughout the country which has been conducting a campaign in behalf of the bill, says:

"According to the best estimates available, there are about 75,000 German children in distress. Such authoritative sources as the American Friends Service Committee say that America's proposed total of 20,000 admissions could be chosen from 50,000 of the 75,000 in distress. Approximately only half of these 50,000 are Jews, the rest being in Nazi disfavors because they may have one or more Jewish grandparents or because their parents are politically outlawed. This means that all faiths are represented and that all groups in the United States have reason to take active interest in the Wagner-Rogers proposal."

"Of the hundreds of thousands of Europeans who are refugees or potential refugees, the children arouse the greatest sympathy. With life still stretching before them, they find themselves shorn of opportunity, shorn of education and in some cases shorn even of the right to play, the right to enjoy sun and grass."

Farm Return Is Down for 1938

Grower's Share of Consumer Dollar Lowest
In Four Years.

WASHINGTON.—Last year the farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar—40 cents—was the smallest in four years, according to the bureau of agricultural economics.

This means, the bureau explained, that out of every dollar paid by a city worker for a farm product 60 cents went to processing, transportation and selling costs and only 40 cents to the producer of the raw product.

The study included a representative list of 58 foods. The farmer's share of the food dollar in 1937 was 45 cents, 44 cents in 1936, 42 cents in 1935 and 37 cents in 1934. The 1913-15 average was 53 cents.

Food Prices Down 8 Per Cent.
A drop of 9 per cent in the retail value of the 58 foods last year, compared with 1937, was borne almost entirely by producers, it was shown. Processing, transportation and distribution charges declined 1 per cent.

The bureau estimated that the average city worker's family last year spent $321 for the 58 principal foods. Of that amount farmers received $130 and those who handled it between the farm and the family food basket divided $191.

In 1937 the family food bill was $333, of which the farmer received $160 and the others $193. The study showed that the spread between what the farmer receives for the raw product and what the city worker pays has increased steadily in the last 25 years.

Producer's Percentage Cut.
In the 1913-15 period the average worker's family paid $256 for the 58 foods, the farmer receiving $135 and all others $121. In the boom period of 1929 food costs reached a high of $415, of which the farmer received $195 and the others $220.

The low point both in the cost of food and the percentage received by farmers was reached in 1932, when the total cost was $270. In that year the farmer received $88 of the family food budget and all others $182.

"An improvement in 1938 consumer income over 1936 such as is now anticipated should lead to some increase in the proportion of the consumer's food dollar received by farmers," the bureau said.

Paper Matches, 3,362 of Them Go to Make Violin

TARENTUM, PA.—A violin made from paper matches is the latest work of Jimmy Work, Allegheny valley's most unusual hobby man.

This is not the first time that Work has fashioned violins out of strange materials. Once, he built a violin made of paper held together by large quantities of glue. Another time he made a fiddle of wooden matches.

The instruments are not mere toys, either. Work plays them at social events, church affairs and amateur shows throughout the district. The tone quality is considered fairly good.

Work used 3,362 paper matches for his latest instrument. It took him 227 hours to complete the job. His total cash outlay was 25 cents. The violin made with wooden matches required 150 hours and cost 60 cents. He used 1,195 matches. The paper fiddle has 23 layers of paper on the top, 17 on the bottom and 12 on the sides. A piece of sugar cloth was placed between each six layers of paper.

Divining Rods Now In Popular Demand

Freak Information Sought
Of U. S. Government.

WASHINGTON.—The department of the interior, custodian of the public domain and a great deal else, is one of the greatest recipients of requests for freak information in the United States government. Nearly a million and a half letters come in each year asking for something or other, and a very large number of these want to know where to find a divining rod.

For 90 years, ever since the department came into existence, eager demands have come in having their inspiration in the persistent belief that wealth can be obtained by hocus-pocus. About 700 of these letters are received each year.

Various phrased, they all ask for nearly the same thing. One says: "Please tell me whether there is an instrument known as a 'divining rod' with which I may locate minerals which I feel sure must exist in this region."

Other letters inquire, "How do you find water wells with a forked twig?" or "I want to know how to go about getting a government machine to hunt hidden treasure."

Another run-of-mine inquiry asks: "How may I secure a permit to search for lost treasure? I have information to the effect that a large quantity of silver bars were being transported by the Spaniards in the vicinity of Santa Fe in the 1600s. Being beset by Indians, the Spaniards buried the treasure at a place, the general locality of which I have learned by consulting an old map that came into my possession."

Others, ethnologically minded, want to know whether Indians are citizens and whether the department can furnish a list of present-day Indian chiefs. With remarkable forbearance, the authorities regularly send out such a list upon request.

B. C. Van Ingen, superintendent of schools, will be the next president of the Kingston Rotary Club. President Eugene Pemberton announced the selection, at the weekly meeting of Rotary Wednesday noon. The bowling team is to go to West Coxsackie Friday night where the next session of the round robin bowling tournament under way among teams from the Rotary Clubs of the Hudson Valley will be held. Visitors will be guests of Catskill Rotary on that occasion. Gus Mojeska selected a dozen or so Rotarians to make the trip.

Talk by Father Landherr

The guest speaker of the day was the Rev. Stephen J. Landherr, member of the faculty of St. Alphonsus at Esopus and a very interesting and entertaining speaker he proved to be.

Saying that his work was principally among deaf people, who were characterized as "the forgotten men of today," Father Landherr told of his work, illustrated the use of the sign language in ordinary conversation, in church service and in song and gave some amusing instances of mistakes that had been made when the wrong signs were used.

In answer to questions he said that disease, such as scarlet fever, typhoid fever, diphtheria, or falls and shocks, were the principal causes of deafness. To some extent it was said to be hereditary, especially if both parents were born deaf. If deafness is a result of sickness children probably would be normal. He told of one couple, both deaf, who had four children, two of whom suffered from the same affliction as their parents, while the other two were normal.

The sign language used by deaf mutes, said the speaker, is built up of letters of the alphabet and signs which may stand for whole words or phrases. He said that today sign language is not taught in the school, but that instead lip reading was taught. He did not think this was fair, as lip reading is hard to learn, while the sign language comes naturally. He believed that both should be taught.

Illustrates Sign Language

In illustrating the use of the sign language Father Landherr recited "Our Father" at the same time giving the appropriate signs and followed that with a hymn, "Holy God We Praise Thee." In a different vein were a parody on "The Sidewalks of New York," "Sweet Adeline" and "My Wild Irish Rose." Father Landherr not only made it plain that he knew his signs but also displayed a very pleasing voice and there was every indication that his musical program "went over big."

The speaker said that the students in schools for the deaf are helped by a sense of rhythm and the feel of vibrations. Thus in one New York school he visited the pupils could tell the nature of a selection that was being played by placing their hands on the piano and sensing the vibrations. The Fairview School at White Plains has a school band.

It was stated that signs vary somewhat in different places and in different countries. Thus on a visit to Italy the sign given for an American was the same sign used here for a wild man.

Father Landherr told of visiting a man and his sister, in Newburgh, both of whom were deaf, dumb and blind. The man could converse with him simply by placing his hand on the back of the man's head as the latter made the sign words. He also played checkers — and generally won — using a board in which the men set into depressions. The checkers were square and round in order to distinguish them. Meanwhile the sister, depending upon her sense of touch only, cleared off the dining table, washed up the dishes and put everything away where it belonged.

If you want good beer...

spring the good word—"Malt"

You'll find a difference in Trommer's, the Malt Beer! It's brewed unlike most other domestic beers, but like imported beers—of hops and malt and no other grain. It costs you more to make Trommer's that way, but you pay no more. And the difference in flavor you can judge for yourself. Simply Taste and Compare!

Trommer's Beer, Inc.

SO GOOD it became the talk of the town

Here were the recipes that never failed! Of course, her mayonnaise "took" lots of eggs and oil and spices and a long, long time to beat! Today that selfsame recipe makes Ivanhoe Mayonnaise—rich, creamy, chock-full of teasing flavor—THE mayonnaise when salads must be tops!

And her fragrant, racy "boiled" dressing—now Ivanhoe Salad Dressing—hasn't been changed either—not by a pinch of salt! It's still flooded with that homey, spicy flavor which dresses up family salads. Praise be! Premium's economical enough to use plenty every day. Both at good grocers'.

IVANHOE

Mayonnaise FOR FINE SALADS

OLD HOME WEEK MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

The Characters
Asey May, Cape Cod sleuth.
Eloise, daughter of the murdered woman.

Yesterday: Asey confesses to Asey that Jane and he are ashamed of themselves, and are going to turn over a new leaf.

Chapter 40

Pushed

IT WAS mid-afternoon before Asey remembered that he had failed to ask Jane and Eloise about the path Kay had found. Turning in his last judge's slip, he drove up to Hell Hollow.

The fine drizzle had not curtailed the tourists' enthusiasm. The Randalls' house and barn were surrounded by customers.

"I wish," Lane said, "all the historical spots weren't on this road. They see those figures, and stop, and—there. There goes one drove, and another. That helps, Jane? She's up to her ears. Eloise just went indoors, into the house. At least I think she did. There's Jane now—yell and ask her."

Eloise called to her. "She went for heavy cord and boxes to pack some stuff in before some man gets back from viewing the wishing well. In the house cellar, she is. I've got to dash—tell her to hurry, will you?"

Asey went into the house and walked out to the kitchen. The cellar steps, steep and protected only by a swinging railing, were in the corner.

"Eloise!" he bent over the rail and called. "Miss Randall! I wonder if—"

At his hand was the electric light switch. He flicked it on and peered down into the tiny circular cellar.

Eloise lay in a heap at the foot of the steps.

As Asey mounted the stairs a few minutes later, Lane hurried into the kitchen.

"Say, Asey," he began, "Jane wants you to tell Eloise she must hurry, that man is back—"

"You go tell Jane," Asey said, "to carry on without Eloise. Say I'm busy with her. Then you look the doors an' come back here."

"What's the matter?"

"Look down there."

Lane stared down at the figure in the cellar.

"Is she badly hurt? Fell, did she?"

"She's dead," Asey said. "Fell, or was pushed. Probably the last, if you want the bitter truth."

"Why Not Suicide?"

"I'll go clear these people out," Lane said, starting for the door.

"You'll do nothin' of the kind," Asey told him. "Look, this business can't be made public any more than the other. You can't send 'em off—you're the gardener. You can't say who you are without givin' everything away."

"Like I said, an' tell her I'm busy with—no, change it. Say that Eloise has had a sick spell, an' we've called the doc, but not to come in an' excite her. Just to carry on with the customers. Now, hurry. Before she comes in."

He managed, by a miracle, to get Cummings at his office phone.

"Hollow," he said briefly. "Cellar stairs this trip. No, not Jane. Look, can you get someone to help Jane—your wife? Good. Tell her all you have to. I want her in."

An hour later, Cummings, Asey, Lane and Hamilton sat in the kitchen. The shades were drawn. On the table were Cummings' open bags, and Lane's camera, and a suitcase with more of his paraphernalia.

"All right," Cummings said, "we've hashed enough. Now, Asey, why not suicide?"

"She fell backwards an' landed on her back. You say her head hit the cement floor, an' she died in a second."

"True, but couldn't she trip up the stairs as well as down 'em? When I first got my bifocals, I tripped upstairs for a week."

"She went downstairs," Asey said, "for heavy cord an' boxes. Neither's been touched. Therefore she never got downstairs to get what she was after. Never had a chance to."

"Wait," Lane said. "There was that pair of shears on the floor. Suppose she got halfway down, remembered she'd left the shears, and started back, and then tripped?"

"The shears," Asey pointed out, "was way over by the stove. She came in the dinin' room door. If she'd detoured way around to the stove an' dropped 'em there, she certainly would have recalled the fact before she got halfway down the steps. Besides, what'd she detour for? She was after something, an' she was on her way to it. Why cross over to the stove?"

Lane pounded on the table with his fist.

"Then why, will you tell us, are the shears there? She had them in her hand when she entered the house. I saw them. Now, you explain why they were on the floor by the stove!"

"She threw them at someone," Asey knew perfectly well what Lane's reactions would be, and he was not disappointed.

"Threw them at—" Lane began scornfully. "Asey, you—"

"Now, just a moment, Lane," Cummings interrupted. "I wonder if—yes, Asey's right. I know Eloise. Suppose, as she starts down the stairs, she hears someone. Turns around, sees someone. Someone menacing. She recognizes the fact that she is in danger, and hurls at the person her only weapon, the shears she has in her hand."

Lane ridiculed the doctor's story.

"If she had scissors, and recognized someone as a menace, why didn't she wait and use them to stab with? That's the logical thing for anyone to do," he said. "Why, throwing the scissors at someone would be like throwing a loaded gun instead of shooting it!"

'A Futile Woman'

DR. CUMMINGS sighed. "Of course, Lane, of course! That's just it, isn't it? That's what a logical person would do. I agree. So does Asey. But you fail to take into consideration the fact that Eloise is not logical. Never in this world would it have occurred to her to hop on her hands and knees and hurl the shears futilely—de mortuis and all that sort of thing, and of course the woman had many good points, but she was none the less a futile woman."

"All right, all right," Lane said. "Be psychological, if you want to, but it's the practical things that interest me. Why, if someone pushed her, is the swinging railing intact? She had either to be pushed through it, or if she was on the top step, on her way down, she'd have been clinging to it and her grip on it would save her, or the railing would be down there with her. One thing or the other."

"Lane," Cummings said plainly, "you just simply do not understand the type of woman involved. You claim she pushed you—can't you tell, couldn't you tell, that she was a futile individual? Can't you tell from what you know that she never knew which way to turn a key to unlock a door? She couldn't tune a radio to save her life. She couldn't unscrew a dead electric light bulb and put in a new one. Did you ever see her try to drive that beach wagon? Man, she was a menace to public safety when she drove that vehicle! Your trouble, Lane, is that you're practical. Eloise is not practical. You'd grab the railing. Eloise would not grab the railing. Put Eloise in a shipwreck. Throw a life preserver to her. Would she put it on? No. She'd try to sit on it. Lane, can't you grasp this?"

"The woman tripped and fell," Lane said doggedly. "That's that."

"The woman," Asey said, "was pushed an' thrown. Lane, walk over to the head of the steps. That's it. Now, what do you do first, starting down, before you touch the rail, even?"

"Put on the light, of course," Lane said impatiently.

"That's what I'd do, too. But the light was off. You can say she started down, turned to put it on, an' fell. But that's the one way she wouldn't have fallen, because she'd have to be on the rail to turn the light. She couldn't help but save herself if she started to fall then."

"Why'n't you tell me about the lights?" Lane demanded.

"You never gave me any chance. I think she started down, was reaching to turn the light on, from the top step, an' heard someone. Turned around, there on the top step. Someone comes toward her, from over there by the stove, an' she throws the shears. He rushes over, takes her by the shoulders, an' hurls her down."

"There were the marks of your rubber soles going down and coming up," Lane said. "No marks for her, but then she came across the wooden walk and wasn't in the damp grass. But if someone threw her down, wouldn't you think they'd have gone down to make sure she was dead? And if they came from outdoors, why can't we find some marks? Any marks, here or—"

"Give the feller credit for stock-in-feet," Asey said. "Besides, after burlin' her straight onto a concrete floor nine feet below, he could be reasonably sure he'd achieved his purpose. He could have made sure by snappin' on the light an' lookin' down. Let's go down there again for one more look."

The four of them went gingerly down the almost perpendicular steps.

"Why are so many cellars on the Cape circular, like this?" Hamilton wanted to know.

"A circular cellar took fewer bricks than a square one. Most are semi-circular. Mine at home is."

"But this is new. Those concrete blocks aren't any old time thing."

"Probably laid 'em against the old brick," Asey said, when they made the house over.

To the right of the steps was an electric pump and a water tank, and near them an electric meter. Behind the steps was a neat pile of crumpled paper boxes and another pile of folded sheets of brown paper, all obviously salvaged. Apparently Mary Randall was a thrifty soul.

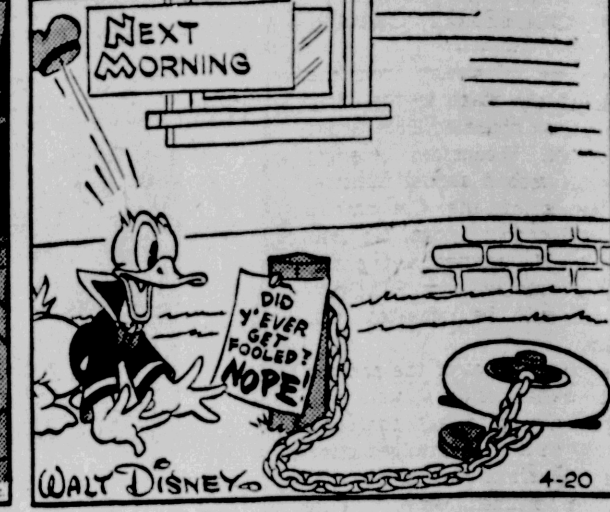

Continued tomorrow.

A DOG'S LIFE

By Frank H. Beck

Putting feet on desk said to aid mental balance. Putting them under the table however keeps the budget out of balance, also the tummy.

Mrs. Chubbitt (to new maid)—Can you serve company, Mandy? Mandy—Yes, ma'am, either way. Mrs. Chubbitt—What do you mean, either way? Mandy—So they'll come again and so they won't.

Many a promising sale in the morning has been wrecked by having flown under too full sail the night before.

Doctor—You are suffering from indigestion. Drink a glass of hot water every morning. Patient (star boarder)—I have been doing that for months. Doctor, only my landlady calls it coffee.

And now that there are folding bars for home use we trust that it will not be the participants who will "fold up."

Thoughtful Friend—My good man, why don't you take the street car home? Illuminated One—Sh no ushe. My wife wouldn't let me keep it in the house.

Nobody will dispute this: Man wants but little here below, he's ready to admit it. And if Uncle Sam keeps taxing him, he's pretty sure to get it.

Teacher—I see you are early of late. Pupil—I was behind before. Teacher—Now you are first at last.

Once I met a very charming young woman whose name was Echo. I wondered how the name came to be used and why. My recollection is that she was by no means an Echo, but the real thing.

Mrs. Smith—Did that expensive treatment cure your husband's baldness? Mrs. Jones—Yes, in fact, when the bill came in he was able to tear out handfuls of hair in his rage at the high fees.

There isn't any comfort or luxury that will offset the discomfort of tight shoes.

The tramp stood at the door of the cottage, and when it was opened, he said: "Two years ago, lady, you did me a good turn and gave me a square meal. I've never forgotten it. Now one good turn deserves another, and I've come to ask you for that other good turn."

Among new inventions is an improved can opener that will accommodate both right-handed and left-handed cooks, thus contributing greatly to the problem of obtaining household help.

This must be a new breed: Billy—Your old dog's only a mongrel, while mine's an "air-tight" dog. Jimmy—Aw, there ain't no such animal. What do you mean "air-tight" dog? Billy—There is, too. Least that's what my dad calls him, because it's half Airdale and half Scotch.

Time is life, and we are entitled to use our time as we see fit just as we are entitled to spend our money as we see fit.

At breakfast a Scot suddenly exclaimed in horror, "Jean, Jean! Can I believe my own eyes? Such extravagance I never saw in a my life!"

"Hoos, Jock, what's the matter?" asked Jean. "Two pinches of salt on wee Jamie's porridge!"

"Well, never mind. He's ye forgotten it's his birthday?"

If a fortune-teller promises you a trip abroad and you don't get it, you're out only a couple of dollars, but if an economic expert promises you that the stock market will go up and it crashes down, you're out a year's salary.

Craftsmen Present Successful Show

Old time minstrelsy trod the boards of the stage in the Holy Cross parish house on Pine Grove avenue on Wednesday evening when the second annual minstrel and dance of the Craftsman's Club of Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., amused and entertained a large audience. The performance will be repeated this evening.

The merry quips of the endmen and the ballads of the soloists were exceptionally good, and the show closed with a well arranged olio.

Ralph Harrison was interlocutor and the endmen were Charles Manfro, Warren Smith, Bill Lapine and George Hudler, with Carl Spiegel and Chet Fox as the premier ends.

The soloists were Earl Williams, Henry Paige, Ralph Harrison, John McCullough and Bob Smith, not to forget the endmen who sang typical endmen songs that brought down the house.

The Craftsman's Club quartet, Henry Dean, Ralph Harrison, Henry Paige and Ralph Deyo warbled "Mandy Lee" so well that they had to repeat. In fact all of the songsters were forced to respond to encores.

The jokes, mostly of local variety, were old ones that had been refurbished and brightened up so that they appeared like new.

The ensemble was composed of Clifford Harris, Edward Hillis, Richard Heffernan, Dick Rider, Harry Rappleyea, John Pope, Justin Bell, Louis Seaman and Wallace Webb.

When the curtain parted on the first part it showed a typical old-time minstrel first part with the familiar call of the interlocutor, "Gentlemen be seated." From then on the fun waxed fast and furious with one joke following another keeping the audience in high good humor. The endmen this year were exceptionally good.

Bill Smith and his orchestra furnished the music for the performance.

The olio opened with an xylophone solo by Arthur Floyd, which was so good he was forced to reply with an encore.

Charles Manfro rendered several harmonica solos that showed he was skilled in the use of that instrument, while Murphy and Sparling presented an acrobatic number that was one of the best numbers on the fine program.

Miss Jean Molyneux rendered several piano accordion solos so well she also was forced to respond to an encore and with the orchestra played "Alexander's Rag Time Band."

Vincent J. Vincent, the man with the flying feet, brought the program to a successful close in his tap-dancing specialties.

Rosie from Harlem should not be overlooked, and as the show is to be repeated tonight "her" identity should not be revealed. "She" and Chet Fox in the novelty number, "Where Did You Get Those Eyes" was a wow. Rosie has to be seen to be appreciated.

Following the performance dancing was enjoyed.

The 1939 spring outlook for egg and poultry production in the United States indicated an increase for the year over 1938.

A Good Idea—

Let the Telephone Help You

Busy women everywhere have found that the more you use your telephone—the more valuable it becomes to you.

Your telephone can save you countless errands—ease your mind about children away at school—do your shopping—keep you close to far away friends. So easy, too, to get quick answers to questions that are continually coming up.

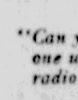

So before you step on the starter and dash off on any errand in person—why not ask yourself "Can I do it more easily by telephone?" New York Telephone Company.

"When can I have an appointment?"

"Can I still get that advertised special?"

"Can you send me one up to fix the radio?"

"Did you reach home safely?"

Captured after long chase . . .
1. Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, 26 (center with mustache), most notorious World War draft dodger, was brought to Governor's Island, N. Y., for court martial January 7, 1920. A two-year search, marked by taunting postcards from him, had ended that day in his Philadelphia home. He was sentenced to five years in prison; his citizenship was forfeited.

Draft-Dodger Bergdoll escapes . . .
2. Bergdoll, heir of a wealthy Philadelphia brewer, was permitted to leave prison in August, 1920, to recover the $100,000 "pot of gold" he said he had buried in Maryland hills when a fugitive. Allowed to stop at his home in Philadelphia, he leaped from a window of the house, sprang into a waiting auto. He fled to Canada, thence to Germany.

Fights off attempts to seize him . . .
3. His haven in the country he'd offered to serve in 1914 and had refused to fight in 1918 was not peaceful. Two attempts were made to kidnap Bergdoll for return to U. S.—since he could not be extradited for political offense. In one, in 1923, he fatally shot a man, severely bit another when four waylaid him in a hotel. U. S. veterans were aroused.

Memorial

In loving memory of our dear mother, Martha E. Wright, who passed away April 20, 1938.

Gone, dear mother, gone forever. How we miss your smiling face. But you left us to remember. None on earth can take your place.

The happy home we once enjoyed. How sweet the memory still. But death has left a loneliness. The world can never fill. God saw how she was suffering. And the hills were hard and steep.

So He closed her weary eyelids. In calm and restful sleep. Peaceful be thy sleep, dear mother.

It is sweet to breathe your name. In life we loved you dearly. In death we do the same. When the evening shadows are falling. And we are all alone. In our hearts there comes a longing. If you only could come home. Every day our thoughts are wandering.

To the grave not far away. Peaceful be thy rest, dear mother. Till we meet again some day. One of the dearest, one of the best.

God in His mercy took her to rest.

Bereaved Sons and Daughters.

Palestine—Sacred to Three Creeds
In Jerusalem, capital of Palestine, are sacred shrines of three powerful religions—Christian, Jewish, Mohammedan. Originally built by Constantine the Great, the Church of the Holy Sepulchre is believed by many Christians to cover the sites of the Crucifixion, burial and resurrection of Christ. Sacred to Moslems is the "Mosque of Omar," rising over the rock from which—according to the followers of Islam—Mohammed ascended into heaven. Third religious goal is that of the Jews, the famous wailing wall where pious members of the Jewish faith come to pray and lament.

Card of Thanks
Mrs. James Collins wishes to express to her friends and neighbors her grateful appreciation for the many kindnesses shown to her and her family during their recent bereavement.

Osborne Speaks To Kiwanis Club

for the last four years indicates, after making every allowance on the conservative side, that more than 25,000,000 persons have toured or vacationed in New York state in that period, and have spent here the vast total of almost $1,000,000,000. To express it with more exactness, this means that these visitors have spent in our state each year an average of $18.75 for every man, woman and child in the state, as against which the cost of the Bureau of State Publicity figures nine-tenths of one cent a year for each member of our population. In other words, the state spends less than one cent to bring in nearly $20 worth of business.

"We do not, of course, claim that without any Bureau of State Publicity there would be no tourist vacation industry in New York State. But we do deem it important that public approval of the work of the Bureau of State Publicity has continued to grow from the very first day it began operations, and we do consider it significant that those who have praised this work most enthusiastically are those in the best position to note its definite results. Civic and business leaders, chambers of commerce, resort and hotel associations, merchants' and automobile associations, individual businessmen, and the press of New York state generally have expressed approval and support of the work of the bureau. This support is based on the undisputed fact that money spent for this work is an investment that repays the state richly, and most of these supporters have urged in the past and are urging today an increase in this investment which will mean a consequent increase in financial return to the state and its people. For these reasons the action taken this week by the majority leaders of the legislature must be incomprehensible and disappointing to a very great many of our citizens. I refer here to the proposal of the majority members of the Senate Finance and the Assembly Ways and Means Committees to remove from the budget the entire regular annual appropriation for the Bureau of State Publicity.

All on World's Fair
"In explanation of this amazing suggestion these legislative leaders say:

"We believe that all the efforts of the state publicity bureau this coming year should be concentrated on bringing World's Fair traffic and business into up-state regions of New York. Careful estimates would indicate that concentrated activity along such lines will be self-liquidating through increased motor fuel tax revenues. Since this is fully covered by the Mahoney-Wright bill, the appropriation in the government's budget can be dropped. Reduction $153,800."

"The Mahoney-Wright bill is a measure now in the fiscal committee of both houses of the legislature which appropriates

$200,000 to the bureau of state publicity for conduct of a program to induce New York World's Fair visitors to travel over New York state routes. Its introduction resulted from a public demand that the funds of the bureau of state publicity be augmented by at least this sum in this World's Fair year. It did not originate with the bureau nor elsewhere in the conservation department. Naturally the bureau of state publicity is and long has been aware of the desirability of bringing traffic to and from the World's Fair through New York state this year and probably next year. It had planned and put into operation, so far as possible, a program along these lines long before this same idea occurred to the majority leaders of the legislature. Any definite arrangements have been made, of course, only within the limits of the bureau's regular appropriation, but the plan is such that should larger means be available through the Mahoney-Wright bill it could be expended as it should be and the many additional efforts undertaken which otherwise would be impossible.

More Should Be Done
"The bureau is convinced that much more should be done for up-state this year than merely to bring World's Fair travel across our state. It seems entirely possible that vacation business in those regions of the state which are off these direct routes will gain considerably below normal unless the bureau's work on behalf of New York state as a vacation center as well as a pathway to the World's Fair can be continued.

"Another important activity which elimination of the regular appropriation and substitution of the earmarked funds of the Mahoney-Wright bill would seem to make impossible is the bureau's annual productive campaign on behalf of New York state's winter sports areas.

"If this so-called economy proposition of the legislative majority is carried out it actually will result, of course, in an increase of $46,200 over the regular appropriation to the Bureau of State Publicity. We know, of course, how advantageously and profitably for the state this additional money can be invested in the Bureau of State Publicity this year, but curtailment to the normal work of the bureau threatened by the proposed elimination of its entire regular annual appropriation is very apt, in the long run, to more than offset any temporary gain."

Globe-Trotting Housewives
Nearly 135,000 of Uncle Sam's nephews and nieces went traveling in 1938. Bound for all continents, the globe-trotters came from all 48 states, plus Alaska and the District of Columbia. According to state department passport records, New York city alone contributed the most, with about 31,000; South Dakota the least, among the states, with only 124. "Housewives" were in the majority—more than 19,000 of them. "Skilled laborers" were next. Students and teachers followed, with persons of "no occupation" just 181 passports behind.

Suggestions Made For Fair Exhibit

With spring well under way and summer not far off, there is still time for the preparation of exhibits in the homemaking department of the Ulster County Fair, which will be held this year on August 23, in Forsyth Park, Kingston, it was announced today.

Many housewives can combine their spring redecorative work it is suggested with the preparation of exhibits in such classes as quilts, furniture refinishing, slip covers, chair caning, needlework like dresser scarfs, luncheon sets, towels, knitted and crocheted articles, such as bags, bedspreads, table cloths and crafts such as block printed curtains, or wall hangings.

In fact the premium lists have room for almost any article that a housewife might make for her home or family, as the principle object of presenting this department of the fair is to show the best products of Ulster county homes of today. There are classes for canned and baked goods, classes for dressmaking and other clothing in the knit goods section, classes for metal work, photography and other collections.

Two new classes have been added this year to the fair which increases its scope every season. In the needlework department there will be room for rugs, both hooked and braided. In the foods department there will be a section devoted to exhibits of pies.

With the growing popularity of amateur photography, this section of the fair has proved a greater attraction than ever. Last year many young people competed, as did members of amateur camera clubs of the county, and special attention is to be given to this exhibit class.

This fair and Farmers' Field Day is an annual public occasion, participated in by Ulster county residents, who each year enjoy the picnic lunch, games, recreation and music. Anyone in the county is welcome to exhibit and compete for the many generous prizes.

Kingston Receives Morning Salute On Cook's Program

Kingston received wide publicity this morning through the efforts of Thomas W. Miller, secretary to Mayor C. J. Heiselman, when the city was saluted over the air from Station WABC during the Phil Cook morning broadcast hour from 7 to 8 o'clock.

The materials used in presenting Kingston to the radio audience had been collected by Mr. Miller and forwarded to Phil Cook. The sketch outlining Kingston as a residential and business center called attention to the fact that this city was the first capital of the state of New York. It is located on route 9-W within easy reach of New York city.

In discussing the historical background of the city the announcer called attention to the fact that the first landing in 1609 of Hendrick Hudson and his men was on the beach in Ponckhockie, and that Kingston was one of the first examples of Colonial objection to the tea tax, which was one of the causes of the Revolutionary War. As a result of Kingston's activities the village was burned by the British troops, but was rebuilt and in that work was assisted materially by a donation of $18,000 from Charleston, S. C.

Reference was made to the city for its industrial, residential and recreational facilities.

In closing the salute mention was made that June 26 will be Kingston Day at the World's Fair in New York and that this city would be the center of the annual Apple Blossom Festival to be held this year on May 6 and 7. The closing words of the salute were: "We extend our greetings to the mayor of Kingston, Conrad J. Heiselman, and to the mayor's secretary, Thomas W. Miller, who supplied the material for this broadcast."

Helps For Housecleaning Homemakers

LAUNDERING CURTAINS
Wash curtains frequently. Make rich suds with safe mild soap flakes. Use lukewarm to cool water, testing suds with back of wrist. Too warm water is more apt to make colors fade. Never soak colored curtains. Squeeze suds through the material. Don't rub as this may spread threads and cause holes. Rinse thoroughly. Starch sheer cotton curtains.

Squeeze out as much water as possible; but do not twist or pull. Roll in a Turkish towel, knead out excess moisture and unroll immediately.

Iron curtains lengthwise while slightly damp with a warm iron, or dry on stretchers. Press rayon and celanese curtains on the wrong side—lace and net on wrong side over Turkish toweling or padding. Press cotton and linen curtains on wrong side and then on right.

Hints

Moths in carpets can be prevented by scrubbing the floors with a strong solution of hot water and salt just before laying the carpet. Sprinkling salt on the carpet before sweeping helps to destroy moths.

How carefully do you read the label when you buy canned food for your dog? As a prized possession he deserves the best of food and the best of care. Look for the word "Inspected." It is your assurance of quality.

DRAPERIES

Test before washing if possible, following same methods as for curtains. It is not advisable to wash lined draperies because of the difference in shrinkage of the two materials. The dye may also come through on the lining. Press cretonnes when slightly damp, not too wet, for streaking may occur.

SOFT, FLUFFY BLANKETS

Make extra rich lukewarm to cool suds with a mild soap. Hot water tends to shrink and mat wool. Squeeze suds gently through blanket but do not rub or twist. If using a machine, rub only 3 or 4 minutes. Use second suds if soil is not removed in few minutes. Never overload machine—wash one blanket at a time.

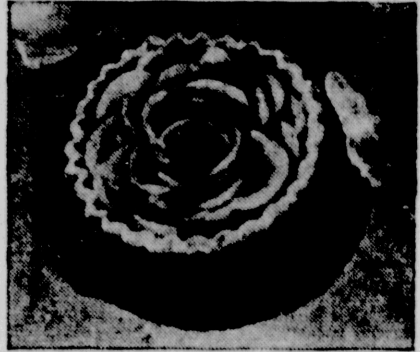

Rinse thoroughly in water of same temperature as suds. Dry in shade. Hang over parallel lines. Ease gently into shape. When dry, press binding with warm iron.

Clean Out The Corners

Here's another way to lighten the housecleaning burden. Clean out the corners first! I don't mean that literally, of course. What I am suggesting is that you clean the closets, chests, drawers and cupboards before you actually start tearing up the entire house for days of airing, scrubbing, painting, papering and the like.

You'll save yourself a lot of "pick up" and "run after" effort if you place all needed cleaning supplies in a small market basket to carry about from room to room. Include a scrub brush, chamois, cleaning, dusting and polishing cloths, ammonia, household cleanser, bar soap, household bleach and disinfectant, furniture polish and a pair of scissors. Each and every item has a place and a use in your cleaning program—an important place if you use the right item at the right time and in the right manner. Don't use substitutes or poor quality cleaning items. The best is none too good when it comes to saving backbreaking housecleaning labor.

PEACH BLUSH PIE

1 baked bran pastry shell, 2 1/2 cups canned sliced peaches, 2 cups peach juice and 1 package cherry gelatine.

Prepare all-bran pastry shell. Drain peaches thoroughly. Add enough water to juice to make 2 cups liquid. Heat liquid and dissolve gelatine in it. Chill only until mixture begins to congeal. Arrange peaches in pie shell and pour gelatine mixture over. Chill until firm. Top with whipped cream if desired.

BRAN PASTRY SHELL

1/4 cup bran, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup shortening, 5 tablespoons cold water (more or less).

Roll bran until fine and combine with flour and salt. Cut in shortening. Add water, a little at a time, until dough is moist enough to hold together. Roll out on lightly floured board to about 1/4 inch in thickness. Place rolled pastry loosely in pan. Trim edge, leaving about 1/4 inch of pastry beyond rim of pan. Fold extended edge under and flute. Prick pastry shell with a fork and bake in hot oven (450°F.) 10 to 15 minutes. Yield: Two 8-inch shells or one 2-crust pie.

Traver Reviews Hasbrouck Appeal

An appeal from a decision of justice's court of the town of Lloyd was taken up for trial Wednesday afternoon before Judge Traver and a jury. George W. Pratt, doing business as George W. Pratt & Son of Highland, brought an action against Joseph Hasbrouck of Modena to recover for lumber which had been sold to Egbert Harcourt of Modena. A verdict for Pratt was returned in justice's court and now Mr. Hasbrouck makes an appeal to the county court.

According to the statement of counsel in the case Mr. Pratt sold lumber to Harcourt for the sum of $184 and extended 30 days time. Mr. Harcourt did not meet the bill and gave up the farm property. Mr. Hasbrouck took the lumber to meet an obligation owed him and for that reason becomes involved in the present case. The transaction took place in 1938. Michael Nardone appear for plaintiff and Davis D. Corwin for appellant.

An efficiency expert estimates the average farm housewife takes more than 200,000 steps a year just to throw out the waste water.

New Jersey cut its traffic deaths in 1938 to 885 from 1,278 in 1937 and from an average of 1,191 for the three years preceding 1938.

Farm Return Is Down for 1938

Grower's Share of Consumer Dollar Lowest in Four Years.

WASHINGTON.—Last year the farmer's share of the consumer's food dollar—40 cents—was the smallest in four years, according to the bureau of agricultural economics.

This means, the bureau explained, that out of every dollar paid by a city worker for a farm product 60 cents went to processing, transportation and selling costs and only 40 cents to the producer of the raw product.

The study included a representative list of 58 foods. The farmer's share of the food dollar in 1937 was 45 cents, 44 cents in 1936, 42 cents in 1935 and 37 cents in 1934. The 1933-38 average was 53 cents.

Food Prices Down 8 Per Cent.

A drop of 8 per cent in the retail value of the 58 foods last year, compared with 1937, was borne almost entirely by producers, it was shown. Processing, transportation and distribution charges declined 1 per cent.

The bureau estimated that the average city worker's family last year spent $321 for the 58 principal foods. Of that amount farmers received $130 and those who handled it between the farm and the family food basket divided $191.

In 1937 the family food bill was $353, of which the farmer received $180 and the others $173. The study showed that the spread between what the farmer receives for the raw product and what the city worker pays has increased steadily in the last 25 years.

Producers' Percentage Cut.

In the 1913-15 period the average worker's family paid $256 for the 58 foods, the farmer receiving $135 and all others $121. In the boom period of 1929 food costs reached a high of $415, of which the farmer received $195 and the others $220.

The low point both in the cost of food and the percentage received by farmers was reached in 1932, when the total cost was $270. In that year the farmer received 38 of the family food budget and all others $182.

"An improvement in 1939 consumer income over 1938 such as is now anticipated should lead to some increase in the proportion of the consumer's food dollar received by farmers," the bureau said.

Paper Matches, 3,362 of

Them Go to Make Violin

TARENTUM, PA.—A violin made from paper matches is the latest work of Jimmy Work. Allegheny valley's most unusual hobby man.

This is not the first time that Work has fashioned violins out of strange materials. Once, he built a violin made of paper held together by large quantities of glue. Another time he made a fiddle of wooden matches.

The instruments are not mere toys, either. Work plays them at social events, church affairs and amateur shows throughout the district. The tone quality is considered fairly good.

Work used 3,362 paper matches for his latest instrument. It took him 227 hours to complete the job. His total cash outlay was 25 cents. The violin made with wooden matches required 130 hours and cost 60 cents. He used 1,395 matches. The paper fiddle has 23 layers of paper on the top, 17 on the bottom and 12 on the sides. A piece of sugar cloth was placed between each six layers of paper.

Divining Rods Now in Popular Demand

Freak Information Sought Of U. S. Government.

WASHINGTON.—The department of the interior, custodian of the public domain and a great deal else, is one of the greatest recipients of requests for freak information in the United States government. Nearly a million and a half letters come in each year asking for something or other, and a very large number of these want to know where to find a divining rod.

For 90 years, ever since the department came into existence, eager demands have come in having their inspiration in the persistent belief that wealth can be obtained by hocus-pocus. About 700 of these letters are received each year.

Variously phrased, they all ask for nearly the same thing. One says: "Please tell me whether there is an instrument known as a 'divining rod' with which I may locate minerals which I feel sure must exist in this region."

Other letters inquire, "How do you find water wells with a forked twig?" or "I want to know how to go about getting a government machine to hunt hidden treasure."

Another run-of-mine inquiry asks: "How may I secure a permit to search for lost treasure? I have information to the effect that a large quantity of silver bars were being transported by the Spaniards in the vicinity of Santa Fe in the 1600s. Being beset by Indians, the Spaniards buried the treasure at a place, the general locality of which I have learned by consulting an old map that came into my possession."

Others, ethnologically minded, want to know whether Indians are citizens and whether the department can furnish a list of present-day Indian chiefs. With remarkable forbearance, the authorities regularly send out such a list upon request.

Kingston Leads Cities In Low Relief Costs

During February Cost Per Case Here Was $24.47; Local Cost of WPA Is Not Included

That relief needs are being efficiently administered in Kingston is shown by a comparison of costs compiled from state relief reports for the month of February, which show that this city has the lowest cost per case and the lowest cost per capita of population of any city in the state.

During February there were 862 cases on relief in the city, numbering 2,296 persons, who were maintained at a cost of $21,087. The cost per case was $24.47, while the cost per capita of population was 75 cents.

In New York state as a whole the cost per case was $24.26 and the per capita cost was $1.30. The figures for Kingston include all forms of public assistance, including home relief, old age relief, relief to blind, and aid to dependent children.

The following table shows the comparison between Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh:

	Cases	Persons	Cost	Cost per Case	Cost per Capita
Poughkeepsie	1,824	4,469	$49,853	$27.08	$1.22
Newburgh	1,712	4,285	$1,840	$30.28	1.43
Kingston	862	2,296	$21,087	24.47	.75

Home Relief Only

The cost for home relief only in several cities in the state follows:

	Cases	Persons	Cost	Cost per Case	Cost per Capita
Jamestown	1,151	3,640	$32,838	$28.53	$1.37
Auburn	876	3,325	$26,745	$30.54	.73
Watertown	1,138	4,122	$33,525	29.46	1.04
Rome	821	3,039	25,496	31.05	.79
Elmira	1,585	5,083	50,612	31.93	1.07
Amsterdam	536	1,692	15,020	27.60	.43
White Plains	742	2,718	34,504	46.62	.97
Poughkeepsie	1,088	3,532	30,094	27.66	.72
Newburgh	1,117	4,042	36,205	32.41	.99
Kingston	467	1,822	11,263	24.12	.40
Average				31.07	.80

A study of the above tables show that Kingston has the lowest cost per case and the lowest cost per capita of population of any city mentioned, both as to the cost of all categories of relief, as well as for home relief.

WPA Not Included

The local cost of maintaining families employed by the WPA is not included in the figures given. Mayor C. J. Heiselman stated today that the city's share for materials, equipment, supplies and other expenses connected with keeping about 600 men employed on WPA projects in Kingston averaged about $10,000 per month.

More Men on WPA

The mayor stated that Kingston had more men employed on WPA than any other city of its size in the state.

He attributed this to the willingness of the city to sponsor suitable projects of a civic value; to the willingness of the city to contribute $10,000 a month to keep the men employed, and to the close cooperation which exists between the city administration and the WPA officials in working out the problem of providing employment on worthwhile projects.

County Council Further Plans For Day at Fair

Completion of county-wide committee lists, plans for a Women's Auxiliary, suggestions for a motorcade to the Fair grounds, the proposed banquet, and a low excursion rate on the New York Central were some of the things that occupied the attention of the Ulster County Council, sponsor of Ulster County-Kingston Day at the New York World's Fair, at a meeting held at the Governor Clinton Hotel Wednesday night.

Suggested names for chairmen of permanent committees were confirmed as follows: Henry R. Bright, executive committee; Edward H. Remmert, Kingston, finance; Walter Clarke, Milton, program; Eugene A. Freer, Kingston, transportation; Edward M. Huben, Rosendale, publicity.

Final selection of names to comprise the membership of the various committees was made. In all there are about 175 committee members, selected from and representing the county as a whole.

Steps also were taken to form a Women's Auxiliary. Chairman Bright said that letters will be mailed to a few representative women in the county asking them to meet with the executive committee of the Council at the Governor Clinton on Friday, April 28. At that time it is proposed to select a list of names to compose a women's organization to work in cooperation with the committees already set up.

The various committees have been asked to hold meetings next week to discuss their work and formulate plans, also to estimate how much money will be required in order that the finance committee may take steps to raise the necessary funds. The plan to raise funds by the sale of membership tickets, such as is being done to finance the Apple Blossom Festival, will be expanded.

Chairman E. A. Freer of the transportation committee suggested that a motorcade be organized for Ulster County-Kingston Day. The idea would be to have the various units escorted from their home localities to some point in the southern end of the county and from there proceed in a body, down 9-W to the Fair grounds.

Word was received that the New York Central Railroad would be willing to cooperate and run a special excursion on June 26—Ulster County-Kingston Day. Providing at least 300 persons made the trip tickets would be sold at a very substantial reduction from regular rates, less than half the usual charge.

It was reported that work was progressing on the plan for a banquet to be held on the Fair grounds on Ulster County Day. Rufus Van Aken, who is chairman of the Ulster County Society in New York committee, making arrangements for the affair, was in Kingston this week. He is hard at work making arrangements for the mechanical details of the proposed dinner and enlisting the full cooperation of members of the New York society.

It is hoped to have at least 400 attending the dinner, which will be held at some place, on the Fair grounds. The location has not yet been selected, but the committee has some half a dozen different sites under consideration, final decision depending partly upon the number attending.

Members of the executive committee of the council within the next two weeks will meet with the chairmen and representatives to arrange further details following which they will probably be able to make more definite announcement regarding plans.

Van Ingen Chosen To Lead Rotarians; Priest Is Speaker

B. C. Van Ingen, superintendent of schools, will be the next president of the Kingston Rotary Club. President Eugene Pemberton announced the selection, at the weekly meeting of Rotary Wednesday noon. Visitors will be guests of Catskill Rotary on that occasion. Gus Mojeska selected a dozen or so Rotarians to make the trip.

Talk by Father Landherr

The guest speaker of the day was the Rev. Stephen J. Landherr, member of the faculty of St. Alphonsus at Esopus and a very interesting and entertaining speaker. He proved to be.

Saying that his work was principally among deaf people, who were characterized as "the forgotten men of today," Father Landherr told of his work, illustrating the use of the sign language in ordinary conversation, in church service and in song and gave some amusing instances of mistakes that had been made when the wrong signs were used.

In answer to questions he said that disease, such as scarlet fever, typhoid fever, diphtheria, or falls and shocks, were the principal causes of deafness. To some extent it was said to be hereditary, especially if both parents were born deaf. If deafness is a result of sickness children probably would be normal. He told of one couple, both deaf mutes who had four children, two of whom suffered from the same affliction as their parents, while the other two were normal.

The sign language used by deaf mutes, said the speaker, is built up of letters of the alphabet and also signs which may stand for whole words or phrases. He said that today sign language is not taught in the school, but that instead lip reading was taught. He did not think this was fair, as lip reading is hard to learn, while the sign language comes naturally. He believed that both should be taught.

Illustrates Sign Language

In illustrating the use of the sign language Father Landherr recited "Our Father" at the same time giving the appropriate signs.

LINER PARIS BURNS AT FRENCH PIER

The S. S. Paris of the French Line, once flagship of the line, is shown in this radiophoto as it burned and settled in six fathoms of water at a dock at Le Havre, France. Police advanced the theory that arsonists were responsible for ruining the 24,000-ton liner, worth an estimated $15,000,000, with more than a half million dollars' worth of art objects on board, consigned to the New York World's Fair.

Appeal Is Made On Lumber Deal

The appeal brought by Joseph Hasbrouck, Modena feed and lumber dealer, in county court was continued this morning before Judge Traver and a jury. Shortly before noon testimony was closed and the summations begun. Mr. Hasbrouck appeals from a judgment of justice's court of the town of Lloyd where George W. Pratt, doing business as George W. Pratt and Son, secured a judgment arising out of lumber transactions.

Mr. Hasbrouck claims that he was justified when he took possession of lumber on the Fowler farm which had been vacated by Egbert Harcourt to whom Hasbrouck had sold several consignments of lumber. He claims he went to the farm and learned Harcourt had left the premises without using up certain lumber on the premises. He told Fowler, grandfather of Harcourt, that he would like to take the lumber which was unused and apply it on the bill which Harcourt owed for lumber and feed.

On the stand Mr. Hasbrouck said Fowler had said he could not do that until he talked to Harcourt. Next day he went there and Fowler told him to take the lumber. He loaded it and carted it away and allowed a credit of $157.78 on the Harcourt bill.

Later he was told by Pratt that the lumber taken was the property of Pratt and that it had been sold under a conditional sales agreement to Harcourt. A trial was had in justice's court and a judgment was secured by Pratt. Hasbrouck appeals from that judgment.

Mr. Hasbrouck said he did not know whether the lumber was the exact lumber he had delivered but it was the same kind and when he asked Fowler to turn it over, Fowler said he would not do so until he talked to Harcourt. Next day when Hasbrouck called he said Fowler went to the house and returned and said to load the lumber on the truck and assisted in so doing.

Mr. Hasbrouck said he was first notified of Harcourt leaving the farm when he was asked to buy a team of horses. He went to the place to look over the team and saw the lumber and asked for possession from Fowler. At the time he was accompanied by a Mr. Gray of Middletown. Gray said consent to take the lumber had been given Mr. Hasbrouck.

Michael Nardone appears for plaintiff and David W. Corwin for Mr. Hasbrouck.

Jurors were excused until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Two residents of the Pine Bush section were arrested Wednesday by State Trooper Andrew Klein on a charge of violating the A.B.C. law. They were Henry Witte, 44, and Max van Bickervorsel, 56. Lindbergh Talks With FDR

Washington, April 20 (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh conferred for 25 minutes with President Roosevelt today but would not tell reporters what was discussed.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 20 (AP)—The stock market tacked on further gains of fractions to more than 2 points today as European war tension eased a trifle.

There was a modest pickup in dealings compared with Wednesday's slow proceedings, but the ticker tape frequently loafed. Transfers were at the rate of approximately 700,000 shares. Profit taking near the final hour reduced top marks in the majority of cases.

Wall Street apparently interpreted as mildly favorable the Mussolini speech at Rome today, while critical of the plea of President Roosevelt for a decade of peace by non-aggression guarantees, was hardly as bellicose as forecast.

There were a few cheering signs on the domestic industrial front, including a more than seasonal jump in last week's freight loadings despite coal mining shut-downs caused by the labor negotiations deadlock. The coal situation was viewed as one of the most important handicaps in the current business picture.

On the New York board prominent rises were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Westinghouse, du Pont, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, American Smelting, Standard Oil of N. J., Great Northern and Chesapeake & Ohio. Tilting higher by as much as a point or so in the curb were Electric Bond & Share, Standard Steel, Spring, Lockhead and International Petroleum.

Stocks Advanced On Wednesday

Stocks advanced Wednesday, but with volume remaining at Tuesday's reduced level, 400,000 shares, not too much importance can be ascribed to the quotations. The market opened firmer and moved upward slightly until news from London announced that further efforts toward peace were being made, when gains were pronounced. At the close the industrial issues, as measured in the Dow-Jones averages, were ahead for the day 1.63 points, to 127.01. Rails advanced 0.33 point to 25.63 and utilities showed a gain of 0.12 point, to 22.06. Bonds, with the exception of high-grade rails, also were up. The commodity average showed a gain for the third consecutive day. Sugar futures were up sharply, but receded slightly after establishing the highest level since 1937. Near-by silk contracts made new highs for the movement. With a generally steady undertone wheat closed unchanged to 1/4 higher in U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Westinghouse, du Pont, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, American Smelting, Standard Oil of N. J., Great Northern and Chesapeake & Ohio. Tilting higher by as much as a point or so in the curb were Electric Bond & Share, Standard Steel, Spring, Lockhead and International Petroleum.

Business news yesterday featured comments on the depressing effect of rising taxes upon business. Chairman Hutzlger of Crucible Steel told stockholders that if 1938 wage rates and taxes had maintained in 1929 the company would have earned only about $2,000,000 instead of the $8,162,343 reported. Chairman Gifford, of A. T. & T., gave figures to show that revenue which formerly went into surplus is now being eaten up by taxes. He said that whereas in 1911 five per cent of revenue had gone for taxes and six per cent to surplus, the 1938 taxes took 14 per cent and there was nothing at all left for surplus. Further evidence of the president's condition is shown in a report of the National Industrial Conference board, which states that in 1938 taxes absorbed 22 per cent of the national income, the largest share for any year as far back as records are available, the previous peak having been in 1937, when taxes took 17.7 cents from each dollar of income.

A. T. & T. is contemplating plant expenditures this year totaling $320,000,000, which is $35,000,000 more than in 1938. The Bell System gained 34,000 stations in the first two weeks of April, compared with a gain of 14,000 in 1938. Dividend is currently being earned.

James & Laughlin Steel had first quarter loss of about $400,000 vs. $1,267,725 in 1938 period. Crucible Steel had small first quarter profit. Borden's first quarter earnings were "substantially" over 1938. First quarter gross of New Haven gained $2,200,000, about 18 per cent over 1938, while operating expenses were cut $82,000, according to President Palmer.

Electric output last week was 10.9 per cent over a year ago. United Cigar-Wheeler Stores had net loss of $688,332 in 1938.

Owens-Illinois Glass had net of $5,948,569, or $2.24 a share in year ended March 31, vs. $7,646,782, or $1.74 in 1937 year.

Some 1939 first quarter earnings include: Bendix Aviation, net of $1,023,996, 49 cents a share vs. net loss of $561,605 in 1938 quarter. Republic Steel, net of $532,899, vs. net loss of $3,062,564 year ago. Sharon Steel net of $7,613, vs. net loss of $151,909 year ago. United Corp., net of $2,056,518, or one cent a share, vs. net in 1938 quarter of $2,123,331, or two cents share. N. Y. Chicago & St. Louis Ry., net of $1,036,663. Corn Products Refining, net $2,003,358, 62 cents a share, vs. net of $2,922,793, 98 cents a share. American Brake Shoe & Foundry $408,937, 44 cents a share, vs. $240,486, or 22 cents a share.

Borg-Warner has entered the aviation parts manufacturing field, having acquired the Pump Engineering Service Corp. of Cleveland, which manufactures pumps for aviation uses.

Keator Will Head Divisions in Troy

Co-ordination of special divisions with new offices at Troop G barracks, Troy, under the supervision of Lieutenant Hervey A. Keator, formerly of Kingston, was announced by state police officials yesterday.

Lieutenant Keator, who now supervises traffic, public assembly and marine units of the local troop, will also continue in charge of general activities of District 1, embracing the counties of Albany, Rensselaer, Schenectady, Montgomery and Fulton, according to Captain John M. Keeley, commanding.

All equipment of the special divisions, including boats, white safety patrol cars and all other emergency work equipment formerly stationed at Newtonville, will be in Troy.

Farm Bureau Vegetable Group Reports Progress

The Farm Bureau vegetable committee met at the Farm Bureau Office at 74 John street last night to check up on the progress made to date in the campaign for the control of European corn borer in Ulster county. Chairman Gross Schoonmaker asked each committeemen to report what he had been able to accomplish in his community, and also asked Assistant Farm Bureau Manager Cyril Small to report on activities conducted through his office.

Committeemen reported that they had interested 88 corn growers in the program and signed them up as cooperators, giving each a special cooperator sign to be posted on his land. These 88 cooperators grow approximately 1,900 acres of sweet corn and 700 acres of other corn. Thus nearly one-half of the commercial sweet corn acreage in the county already has been covered.

The committee is urging all citizens of Ulster county to cooperate in the campaign by destroying all corn stubble, stalks, or cobs before May 15. After that date the corn borer worms, which are now hibernating in corn refuse, will change to moths which then fly to new corn fields and lay eggs for a new crop of worms.

Committeemen present at last night's meeting were: C. L. Allen, Lomontville; Benjamin Van Wageningen, Lomontville; John Schoonmaker, Accord; Benjamin Davis, Kerhonkson; Gross Schoonmaker, Accord; Edward Davenport, Accord; Louis Kurdt, Hurley; John Nicklin, Marlborough; and Jacob Schreiber of New Paltz.

Sister Ernesta, who lived in the convent infirmary, died when she started to descend a stairway, unaware the blaze was in another building. Firemen quickly extinguished the flames.

Seventeen Teams Enter The City Softball League

The City Softball League elected Fred Stout of the Kingston Police Force and well known baseball pitcher to the honorary seat at the organizational meeting held last night in city hall. Herb Van Deusen elected vice-president and secretary-treasurer. The record registration for the league was reached at the session with 17 teams filed application for paid registration fees to close entries. The individual team members must be submitted by May 1 and cannot be altered during the first half of play. Additions or changes can only be made between the first and second halves.

The 1939 official softball rule book was adopted in full. The league ruling permits bunting and striking on passed balls. Any person interested in umpire positions for the season are requested to call Sidney Lutzin at the city hall phone 1884.

The schedule will be played the same as last year with games on alternate week days. During one week the duels will be staged on Mondays and Wednesdays and in the following week on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Starting time for games will be 7 o'clock.

Junior Baseball League May Form

The city Department of Recreation announced that a movement has been started to organize a Junior Baseball League among the several sandlot and scrub teams in the community. All boys who were not 17 years old before January 1 are eligible to enter the competition.

All youthful teams and managers are requested to communicate with the recreational department and as soon as enough teams have expressed their desire to enter, an organizational meeting will be held. Arrangements have already been made to secure a large trophy for the championship team at the conclusion of the season.

Postponed Games Bring Bargains To Baseball Fans

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The silver lining slogan salesmen in all the major league cities might make a good thing of pointing out to furious fans today that every fracas postponed now means a doubleheader some summer afternoon.

Fourteen of the first 19 games in baseball's centennial season were sabotaged by the weather man and the fans really are the only persons concerned who won't suffer as a result.

It may be hard to convince the people of Chicago, for instance, that this is true. They haven't seen even an exhibition game during this year of the abundant April showers. Yet they not only will get their bargain bills, but their Monty Stratton benefit exhibition, too.

On the other hand the clubs aren't likely to recover all the money this week's rain has cost them. Ed Barrow, president of the New York Yankees, estimated "the rain, so far, has cost us about $40,000. Of course we'll play off the games in doubleheaders, but when you lose an opening day game or a Sunday game, you never get that money back."

The ball players don't like doubleheaders—and even if they did, they are all itching to get started immediately.

While the Tuesday tussle in which Detroit nailed down its opener against the Chicago White Sox remains the only game yet played in the American League, the National has managed to squeeze in at least one game a day.

The seniors probably would have missed yesterday, though, if it hadn't been Patriots Day in Boston. Scheduled to celebrate the holiday with a morning and an afternoon game, the Bees and the Philadelphia Phillies managed to struggle through the first of the pair to the satisfaction of 1952 spectators, smallest opening day crowd in Boston's history.

The solo was as homey as baked beans and brown bread to Bostonians because it lasted 12 innings and favored the Bees, 7 to 6. Out of 75 games played at home by Casey Stengel's merry men last year, 34 were decided by one run and 17 of the others by two runs.

In the end it was one of the transplanted American Leaguers now flourishing in the National who broke up the game. Al Simmons, obtained during the winter from the Washington Senators, singled Debs Garms home.

There was some justification for hopes that the season would swing out today on a grand scale. Forecasts were generally fair for most sections.

The lineup is still the same as that which was left at the post reading weather reports yesterday. In the National League Cincinnati is at Chicago, New York at Brooklyn, St. Louis at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia at Boston.

In the American League at St. Louis, Chicago at Detroit, Washington at Philadelphia and Boston at New York.

Unless able to get going today, some of these teams faced a delay of more than a week in holding their first "at home" because all will change partners tomorrow and teams now at home will go on the road.

St. Joseph's Team Will Meet Tonight

Tonight at 7:30 in the school hall, the first meeting of the St. Joseph's softball team will be held under the guidance of the Holy Name recreation committee. Two squadrons will be formed for participation in the proposed Catholic Church League embracing parishes throughout the county. Candidates for the senior team are requested to attend or contact Chairman D. Ronald "Red" McDermott, a junior and senior softball competitor, will be organized for mull-ball activity this season and a large attendance is urged. Teams from St. Mary's, St. Peter's, St. Ann's of Sawkill, Immaculate Conception and other Catholic societies will compete in the loop organized by Father Roth. Indications preface a strongly balanced loop and St. Joseph's plan on placing a strong contender in the field.

St. Remy Team Will Hold Dance at Wittenberg Club

Woodstock, April 20—Through the efforts of Carson Emberson, the use of the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club house has been obtained for the purpose of holding a dance for the benefit of the St. Remy Baseball Club on Saturday evening, April 22. It is expected that the orchestra of the Zena Country Club will contribute the music for the evening. Both square and round dances will help make the Saturday night's entertainment a success.

All the old regulars of both the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club and the Zena Country Club are cordially invited. In fact the entertainment committee will welcome anyone who likes good, old fashioned country square dances.

William Douglas, secretary of the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club, announces that the regular Saturday night square dances at the club house will be open next week, April 29, and calls attention to the fact that this week's dance, April 22, is run under the auspices of the St. Remy Baseball Club, the hall merely being loaned by the Wittenberg Club.

Champions of Hercules League

The Hercules Bowling League concluded its season recently when the E. B.'s defeated the Tetrals for the league honors. The winning team is shown examining the score card following the match. They are, left to right, seated: Ray Avery, Lester Hotelling and Frederick Scott. Standing in the same order are Jack Morton, James Geoghan and Ronald McDermott. Frederick Scott and Ray Avery were elected president and secretary, respectively, of next year's league.

CAUGHT AT HOME PLATE

On a dash from second to home, Third Baseman Emmett J. Mueller of the Phillies (No. 2) is tagged out in a pileup with Boston Bee Catcher Al Lopez. It happened in fourth inning of game at Boston. Lopez has just thrown the ball in attempt to catch Del Young of the Phillies, who hit to right field. Umpire is Moran.

100 Trotters Will Arrive in Goshen To Await Season

Goshen, N. Y., April 20 (AP)—This capital of the harness racing world, after a peaceful winter almost entirely undisturbed by pounding hoofs, again is alive with the sights and sounds associated with Grand Circuit equine talent. The vanguard of the stables which have been training below the Mason and Dixon line are swinging back into home quarters.

More than 100 trotters and pacers will arrive at Historic and Goodtime tracks here before the week-ends. They will be in charge of Trainers Billy Dickerson, Harry Pownall, Rupe Parker, Harry Pownall and Fred Egan. Most of the horses have been trained at Orlando, Fla., and Aiken, S. C.

Prominent Hambletonian candidates will be among the newcomers, with Nibble Hanover, owned by Dunbar W. Bostwick and his sister, Mrs. Ogden Phipps, both of Old Westbury, N. Y., leading in interest. Bag-Piper, another highly-regarded three-year-old owned by E. Roland Harriman of New York, is arriving by van in a few days to continue his workouts under the veteran Dickerson.

On the welcoming committee here is bewhiskered Pat O'Connell, who moved into Historic track last week from North Randall when the Cleveland speedway was turned over to the runners. With him he brought Kelley, the aged trotter which won the Good Time stake last year against the stiffest competition seen on a half-mile track in many seasons.

Goshen will launch Grand Circuit racing in the east this summer when Harriman's Historic track puts on a $25,000 program July 3. After a month's sojourn in New England, the big-time loop will return to Goshen, and the Good Time track for a week of racing August 7-12, with the Hambletonian on the 9th.

FASTEST MARATHON IN HISTORY

Tarzan Brown, a Narragansett Indian, ran the fastest marathon in history when he won the Boston Athletic Association's annual 26 mile, 385 yard event. He's shown hitting the finish line in Boston, driving rain, for a time of two hours, 28 minutes, 51.3 seconds. He became the first runner in the world to break 2½ hours for such an endurance race.

K.H.S. Nine Awaits Jones Dairy Takes Break in Weather UpperHudson Title

Marking time with the weather man Coach Cliff Miller of the Kingston High School baseball team is clamoring for the good old sunshine once again. Since the call for candidates last month the Maroon boss has only seen his cohorts in action but once and that drill was stopped by rain.

Next Saturday afternoon is the opening day for the local team but there's a possibility that the inaugural ceremonies will be cancelled for at least another week unless the weather man shows some mercy for training. All teams comprising the DUSO League have been touched by the rainy season and all of their practices have been marred.

In Kingston this season Boss Miller has a job cut out for him in no uncertain manner. Only Ray Lindhurst, able catcher; Hank Tiano, pitching prospect, and Captain Jimmy Ashdown will be around from last year's varsity to rebuild the club.

With Gus Brinnier, a light hitter, and Jim Ashdown scheduled to take positions at first and third respectively, Miller must find men to refill the shortstop and keystone sack assignments. Both McLane and Coley have graduated. So far, Frank Dobie, George Schrick, Tony Bernatto and Bill Gavis appear to have the inside track but anything may happen and probably will.

Daily drills at the Athletic Field will start as soon as the weather conditions permit.

Chick Reiser, that up and coming star, took individual honors for the evening's session with seven field shots to his credit. George Slott and Benny Kupperberg took eight and seven points respectively.

The Colonials were leading at the finish of the first period by a 9-5 margin. At the end of the second time marker the Sedranites were in front of a 25-19 advantage but seemed to slow up in the last canto as the Jewels walked away with 18 markers against eight by the locals.

The Jones Dairy keggers rolled a 2838 last night at Catskill to clinch the Upper Hudson Valley bowling championship. The match rolled on a neutral alley against the Thompson's Grill of Hudson was one of the closest experienced in the loop this season. A crowd of spectators that numbered over 150 were present to witness the outcome of the deadlocked teams in the rolloff match.

High single honors for the evening were divided between Kelder and Hanley who both rolled a high of 233 and Kelder took the series with a 617.

Ad Jones, president of the league and sponsor of the team was pleased with the enthusiastic following the keggers have had during the past season. A banquet at Thompson's Grill in Hudson this Saturday will officially close the season and the award to the victor of the league will be made at that time.

Harness Horses

Pinehurst, N. C. (AP)—Pinehurst claims to be the most popular harness-horse winter-training center. One hundred and eleven horses are quartered here, a dozen more than in the second most popular spot, Longwood, Florida.

A capacity crowd is expected at the Municipal Auditorium on Friday night, April 21, when the Kingston A. C. will present their weekly boxing show featuring seven star bouts. The main attraction will bring together Charlie Ketchuck, Binghamton champion who defeated Buddy Moore, and Henry Jones, Metropolitan A. A. U. champ. Ketchuck conquered Jones on a previous occasion and hopes to keep up his good record by scoring another win over Jones when they step into the local ring on Friday night. Jones, who was recently a winner in Madison Square Garden, should give Ketchuck a hard battle.

Gene Pinter of Binghamton should have a real problem on his hands when he meets Danny Cox of New York. Cox will try to square the account with Pinter, who holds one decision over him. Pete Dubaldi of Newburgh will tangle with Richard Cremar of New York. They are down to do five rounds—or less, according to the punching power displayed.

Another Newburgh boy and a favorite with the fans is Dutch Williams, a real slugger, who will fight it out with Bob Albino of Binghamton. This match is expected to turn out one of the best on the card.

Jimmy (Windmill) Brown, New York sensation, will mix it up with Johnny Andrews, Albany flash, in a scheduled five rounder.

The preliminaries will consist of two three-round bouts. The first of these will feature Frankie Albright, Kingston slugger, who will meet Roy Collier, Amsterdam hurricane and conquerer of Cliff Gaskins.

In another three round match, Jackie Hogan, a local boy and real action fighter, will slug it out with Smally Johnson, a hard hitting youngster from Albany.

The first bout will start at 9 o'clock.

Kinneys Are Eliminated By Dye Works; Fullers And Crusaders Advance

Sparked and paced by the French Dye Work-Kinney Shoe clash last night at the Y. M. C. A. the Gold Medal basketball tournament resumed its merry way. The cleaners copped a thriller in their clash while the Fuller Clermonts and the Poughkeepsie Crusaders romped to a fairly easy registered triumphs.

Making their second appearance in two successive nights the Crusaders of Poughkeepsie made up for a late arrival by pounding out a 37 to 19 win over Thomson's Laundry. The second battle offered a natural hook-up between the French Dye Works and Kinneys. The cleaners, on a third and fourth period spurge, copped the decision, with the final scoreboard tally reading 29 to 23. Another Kingston outfit remained in the fight for honors as the powerful Fuller Clermonts tripped the Corliss Brothers of Poughkeepsie to the tune of 39 to 29.

Arriving at the local boards at 7:45 and with only a squad of five men, the Crusaders hopped on the bandwagon fast and rattled the Thomson entry full of holes. Nate Dolfinger and Chet Podes were again in rare form with 11 and 8 chunkers respectively.

The Crusaders took an 11 to 6 lead at the end of the first half and then put on the finishing touches. Ernie Bartoff of the losers lathered the twine for seven points but his usual fine work was slowed to a walk by the more impressive work of the visitors.

After spotting Kinney's a scanty 14 to 13 lead at the end of the half, the French Dye Work machine started to move and didn't cease until a win had been realized. With three minutes to go the Dye Works still clung to a one-point margin, 23-22. Then the bombardment functioned perfectly with Jessie Shultis and Chipe Rhymer leading the parade. Johnny Gilday and Chipe Rhymer were high with 11 and 8 in that order.

Completely outclassing their opponents from the start, the Fuller Clermonts knocked the Corliss Brothers of Poughkeepsie out of the running with a 39 to 29 victory. Charlie Bock and Hank Krum led the assault with 14 and 13 points. The shirtmakers poured out a 23 to 8 topper at the half and then came back to make it a clincher easily. Harry Greco, Key and McLaughlin played well despite the loss.

Tonight's Card
Only two games are scheduled for tonight with the tournament going into the back stretch. At 7:30 probably one of the best skirmishes will feature The Fuller Clermonts and the French Dye Works will collide. And at 8:30 the Newburgh du Ponts, featuring Myron Embley, will meet the Poughkeepsie Crusaders.

Dorothy Leonard New AAU Indoor Swimming Queen

Chicago, April 20 (AP)—The national A. A. U. had a new indoor swimming queen today—17-year-old Dorothy Leonard of Worcester, Mass.—but Arlita Smith of Chicago continued to rule lowboard diving mermaids.

Miss Leonard, New England 220-yard free style champion, entering her first national meet after two years of competition, dethroned Detroit's Halina Tomaska last night to win the American title.

She overhauled the defending champion at the finish, winning by a stroke in 2 minutes 55.3 seconds, almost three seconds slower than Miss Tomaska's American record of 2:52.4.

Lowboard diving honors went to Miss Smith for the third successive year after a close duel with another Chicagoan, Claudia Eckert.

The third national title decided in the Medinal pool was the 400-yard relay, which the Women's Swimming Association of New York won in 4:18.9 minutes, five and a half seconds over the record. The winning team was made up of Lorraine Fisher, Gloria Calen, Helen Rains and Elizabeth Ryan. The Broadwood Club of Philadelphia was runner up.

Craftsmen Present Successful Show

Old time minstrelsy trod the boards of the stage in the Holy Cross parish house on Pine Grove avenue on Wednesday evening when the second annual minstrel and dance of the Craftsmen's Club of Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M., amused and entertained a large audience. The performance will be repeated this evening.

The merry quips of the endmen and the ballads of the soloists were exceptionally good, and the show closed with a well arranged olio.

Ralph Harrison was interlocutor and the endmen were Charles Manfro, Warren Smith, Bill Lapine and George Hudler, with Carl Spiegel and Chet Fox as the premier ends.

The soloists were Earl Williams, Henry Paige, Ralph Harrison, John McCullough and Bob Smith, not to forget the endmen who sang typical endmen songs that brought down the house.

The Craftsmen's Club quartet, Henry Dean, Ralph Harrison, Henry Paige and Ralph Deyo warbled "Mandy Lee" so well that they had to repeat. In fact all of the songsters were forced to respond to encores.

The jokes, mostly of local variety, were old ones that had been refurbished and brightened up so that they appeared like new.

The ensemble was composed of Clifford Harris, Edward Hillis, Richard Heffernan, Dick Rider, Harry Rappleyea, John Pope, Justin Bell, Louis Seaman and Wallace Webb.

When the curtain parted on the first part it showed a typical old-time minstrel first part with the familiar call of the interlocutor, "Gentlemen be seated." From then on the fun waxed fast and furious with one joke following another keeping the audience in high good humor. The endmen this year were exceptionally good.

Bill Smith and his orchestra furnished the music for the performance.

The olio opened with an xylophone solo by Arthur Floyd, which was so good he was forced to reply with an encore.

Charles Manfro rendered several harmonica solos that showed he was skilled in the use of that instrument, while Murphy and Sparling presented an acrobatic number that was one of the best numbers on the fine program.

Miss Jean Molyneux rendered several piano accordion solos so well she also was forced to respond to an encore and with the orchestra played "Alexander's Rag Time Band."

Vincent Joy, the man with the flying feet, brought the program to a successful close in his tap-dancing specialties.

Rosie from Harlem should not be overlooked, and as the show is to be repeated tonight "her" identity should not be revealed. "She" and Chet Fox in the novelty number, "Where Did You Get Those Eyes" was a wow. Rosie has to be seen to be appreciated.

Following the performance dancing was enjoyed.

The 1939 spring outlook for egg and poultry production in the United States indicated an increase for the year over 1938.

Pay Movie Students

"Centro Sperimentale di Cinematografia," at Rome, only government operated movie school in the world, has been forced to cease its annual display advertising campaign for applicants. More than 6,000 boys and girls applied at the start of the course. Only 100 are selected, 50 of whom usually survive the acid tests. At the end of the three year course only four or five actors graduate, capable of playing all parts. During the course the government pays them 20 lire a day ($1). Non-Italian students from Egypt, France, Germany, England and Central and South America pay only $5 for the entire three-year course.

New Device Flies Plane At Ten Miles an Hour

EAST PORTCHESTER, CONN.—Invention of a stabilizing device permitting airplanes to fly at heretofore unheard of low speeds and to take off after a run of 40 or 50 feet is claimed by Daniel Thompson, a mechanical engineer.

Thompson believes the invention will be invaluable for bombing planes in war times because the speed can be checked to 10 or 15 miles an hour, and thus assure greater accuracy.

The device, adjusted to the motor and propellers, can be fitted to any plane, according to the inventor, and will "revolutionize the airplane industry."

Oldest Palm Tree Is Raided by Vandals

BRISBANE, AUSTRALIA.—The oldest living thing on earth, a giant palm which is believed to be 15,000 years old, has been replanted by botany students.

The tree was uprooted by vandals recently. Called Grandfather Peter, it stands 25 feet high. Others in the grove vary in age from 3,000 to 8,000 years. These palms—they are not strictly speaking trees, are a cross between a fern and a palm—grow exceedingly slowly. The fern-like leaves are six to seven feet long, 15 inches wide, rigid, and beautifully green and glossy. The palms bear a huge seed cone, not unlike a pineapple, and one was found to weigh 85 pounds.

France's St. Clodwald Loses Historical Charm

To the little town of St. Clodwald in France, or St. Cloud as it is called today, there once came all the grandeur of royalty to gorgeous fetes; today there comes only memories, even tourists pass it by, forgetful of the marvel of the past. With the destruction of its celebrated chateau, built by Louis XIV in 1660, it lost a favorite royal residence, which had witnessed many a notable event. Here the Regent d'Orleans received Peter the Great in 1717. In 1785 it was sold for 6,000,000 francs to Queen Marie Antoinette, and here she resided during the early days of the Revolution. Here the coup d'etat occurred which made Napoleon first consul and here Napoleon III was baptized in 1805 in the presence of Napoleon and Josephine. Here Bonaparte married Marie Louise, and here the allied sovereigns met after the fall of the first empire and here Blucher, booted and spurred, slept in Napoleon's bed, and here on October 13, 1870, it went up in flames in connection with the siege of Paris.

Boy Is Hurt When Bike And Car Are in Collision

Robert Hughes, a boy residing at 353 Broadway, suffered bruises and cuts when his bicycle was in collision with an auto driven by Walter W. Wood of Route 1, Kingston, at Broadway and O'Reilly street. The boy was removed to the Kingston Hospital by Mr. Wood, from which, after his injuries were treated, he returned home.

According to Mr. Wood's report to the police he was driving on Broadway when the bicycle struck his right front fender.

This was the first bicycle accident to be reported in Kingston so far this year. Last year there was a total of 18 accidents in which bicycle riders were injured, some seriously.

Flowers 'Put to Bed'

Hundreds of flowers on Rome's principal streets are "put to bed" every night by a corps of workers who cover them with large tarpaulins. Special frames keep the canvas from injuring the flowers, which are changed all over the city every 15 days, the type of flower depending on the season of the year. The city maintains a special nursery for cultivation of these flowers.

A Good Idea —

Let the Telephone Help You

Busy women everywhere have found that the more you use your telephone—the more valuable it becomes to you.

Your telephone can save you countless errands—ease your mind about children away at school—do your shopping—keep you close to far away friends. So easy, too, to get quick answers to questions that are continually coming up.

So before you step on the starter and dash off on any errand in person—why not ask yourself "Can I do it more easily by telephone?" New York Telephone Company.

"When can I have an appointment?"

"Can I still get that advertised special?"

"Can you send some one up to fix the radio?"

"Did you reach home safely?"

Tune in MARTHA DEANE—WOR—2 P.M.—Monday through Friday

BERGDOLL:

Draft-dodger fled to Germany 20 years ago and fought all efforts to bring him back. Now U. S. looks so good he's willing to serve sentence.

1. Captured after long chase... Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, 26 (center with mustache), most notorious World War draft dodger, was brought to Governor's Island, N. Y., for court martial January 7, 1920. A two-year search, marked by taunting postcards from him, had ended that day in his Philadelphia home. He was sentenced to five years in prison; his citizenship was forfeited.

2. Draft-Dodger Bergdoll escapes... Bergdoll, heir of a wealthy Philadelphia brewer, was permitted to leave prison in August, 1920, to recover the $100,000 "pot of gold" he said he had buried in Maryland hills when a fugitive. Allowed to stop at his home in Philadelphia, he leaped from a window of the house, sprang into a waiting auto. He fled to Canada, thence to Germany.

3. Fights off attempts to seize him... His haven in the country he'd offered to serve in 1914 and had refused to fight in 1918 was not peaceful. Two attempts were made to kidnap Bergdoll for return to U. S.—since he could not be extradited for political offense. In one, in 1923, he fatally shot a man, severely bit another when four waylaid him in a hotel. U. S. veterans were aroused.

4. Settles down in Germany... He did not settle down until about 10 years ago, after years of travel about Germany. He married a pretty German girl, Berta Frank, gardener's daughter, in 1926—in Russia, where "no papers" were needed. They found seclusion in Weinsberg. He wrote President Roosevelt, asking pardon; his family grew; his father-in-law met interviewers with a big stick.

5. And now wants to join family... Mrs. Bergdoll and the children arrived in New York in May, 1935. She and her mother wrote requests for presidential pardon. The family—now five children 3 to 11 years old—have been living mostly in Philadelphia. Returning in April from a four-month trip to Germany, his wife reported he was "coming home." "He made a mistake. He sees that now," she said.

6. And mother in United States... Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, 78, was happy her son would end his exile. It brought her misfortune, for, convicted of aiding his escape, she paid $21,000 fines and saw $1,000,000 in Bergdoll properties seized. She hopes son's return will mean Bergdolls will recover property. Son hopes for leniency—which American Legion chiefs say they will oppose.

Memorial

In loving memory of our dear mother, Martha E. Wright, who passed away April 20, 1938. Gone, dear mother, gone forever. How we miss your smiling face. But you left us to remember. None on earth can take your place.

The happy home we once enjoyed. How sweet the memory still. But death has left a loneliness. The world can never fill. God saw how she was suffering. And the hills were hard and steep.

So He closed her weary eyelids. In calm and restful sleep. Peaceful be thy sleep, dear mother.

It is sweet to breathe your name. In life we loved you dearly. In death we do the same. When the evening shadows are falling. And we are all alone. In our hearts there comes a longing. If you only could come home. Every day our thoughts are wandering. To the grave not far away. Peaceful be thy rest, dear mother. Fill us with your love some day. One of the dearest, one of the best. God in His mercy took her to rest. Bereaved Sons and Daughters.

for the last four years indicates, after making every allowance on the conservative side, that more than 25,000,000 persons have toured or vacationed in New York state in that period, and have spent here the vast total of almost $1,000,000,000. To express it with more exactness, this means that these visitors have spent in our state each year an average of $18.75 for every man, woman and child in the state, as against which the cost of the Bureau of State Publicity figures nine-tenths of one cent a year for each member of our population. In other words, the state spends less than one cent bringing in nearly $20 worth of business.

"We do not, of course, claim that without the Bureau of State Publicity there would be no tourist vacation industry in New York State. But we do deem it important that public approval of the work of the Bureau of State Publicity has continued to grow from the very first day it began operations, and we do consider it significant that those who have praised this work most enthusiastically are those in the best position to note its definite results. Civic and business leaders, chambers of commerce, resort and hotel associations, merchants and automobile associations, individual businessmen, and the press of New York state generally have been among those who have expressed approval and support of the work of the bureau.

This support is based on the undisputed fact that money spent for this work is an investment that repays the state richly, and most of these supporters have urged in the past and are urging today an increase in this investment which will mean a consequent increase in financial return to the state and its people. For these reasons the action taken this week by the majority leaders of the legislature must be incomprehensible and disappointing to a very great many of our citizens. I refer here to the proposal of the majority members of the Senate Finance and Means Committee to remove from the budget the entire regular annual appropriation for the Bureau of State Publicity.

All on World's Fair

In explanation of this amazing suggestion these legislative leaders say:

"We believe that all the efforts of the state publicity bureau this coming year should be concentrated on bringing World's Fair traffic and business into up-state regions of New York. Careful estimates would indicate that concentrated activity along such lines will be self-liquidating through increased motor fuel tax revenues. Since this is fully covered by the Mahoney-Wright bill, the appropriation in the government budget can be dropped. Reduction $153,800."

The Mahoney-Wright bill is a measure now in the fiscal committee of both houses of the legislature which appropriates

$200,000 to the bureau of state publicity for conduct of a program to induce New York World's Fair visitors to travel over New York state routes. Its introduction resulted from a public demand that the funds of the bureau of state publicity be augmented by at least this sum in this World's Fair year. It did not originate with the bureau nor elsewhere in the conservation department. Naturally the bureau of state publicity is and long has been aware of the desirability of bringing traffic to and from the World's Fair through New York state this year and probably next year. It had planned and put into operation, so far as possible, a program along these lines long before this same idea occurred to the majority leaders of the legislature. Any definite arrangements have been made, of course, only within the limits of the bureau's regular appropriation, but the plan is such that should larger means be available through the Mahoney-Wright bill it could be expended as it should be and the many additional efforts undertaken which otherwise would be impossible.

More Should Be Done

"The bureau is convinced that much more should be done for up-state this year and probably across our state. It seems entirely reasonable that vacation business in these regions of the state which are off these direct routes will fall considerably below normal unless the bureau's work on behalf of New York state as a vacation center as well as a pathway to the World's Fair can be continued.

"Another important activity which elimination of the regular appropriation and substitution of the earmarked funds of the Mahoney-Wright bill would seem to make impossible is the bureau's annual productive campaign on behalf of New York state's winter sports areas.

"If this so-called economy proposal of the legislative majority is carried out it actually will result, of course, in an increase of $46,200 over the regular appropriation to the Bureau of State Publicity. We know, of course, how advantageously and profitably for the state this additional money can be invested in the Bureau of State Publicity this year, but curtailment to the normal work of the bureau threatened by the proposed elimination of its entire regular annual appropriation is very apt, in the long run, to more than offset any temporary gain."

Globe-Trotting Housewives

Nearly 135,000 of Uncle Sam's nephews and nieces went traveling in 1938. Bound for all continents, the globe-trotters came from all 48 states, plus Alaska and the District of Columbia. According to state department passport records, New York city alone contributed the most, with about 31,000; South Dakota the least, among the states, with only 124. "Housewives" were in the majority—more than 19,000 of them. "Skilled laborers" were next. Students and teachers followed, with persons of "no occupation" just 181 passports behind.

Suggestions Made For Fair Exhibit

With spring well under way and summer not far off, there is still time for the preparation of exhibits in the home-making department of the Ulster County Fair, which will be held this year on August 23, in Forsyth Park, Kingston, it was announced today.

Many housewives can combine their spring redecorative work it is suggested with the preparation of exhibits in such classes as quilts, furniture refinishing, slip covers, chair caning, needlework like dresser scarfs, luncheon sets, towels, knitted and crocheted articles, such as bags, bedspreads, table cloths and crafts such as block printed curtains, or wall hangings.

In fact the premium lists have room for almost any article that a housewife might make for her home or family, as the principle object of presenting this department of the fair is to show the best products of Ulster county homes of today. There are classes for canned and baked goods, classes for dressmaking and other clothing in the knit goods section, classes for metal work, photography and other collections.

Two new classes have been added this year to the fair which increases its scope every season. In the needlework department there will be room for rugs, both hooked and braided. In the foods department there will be a section devoted to exhibits of pies.

With the growing popularity of amateur photography, this section of the fair has proved a greater attraction than ever. Last year many young people competed, as did members of amateur camera clubs of the county, and special attention is to be given to this exhibit class.

This fair and Farmers' Field Day is an annual public occasion, participated in by Ulster county residents, who each year enjoy the picnic lunch, games, recreation and music. Anyone in the county is welcome to exhibit and compete for the many generous prizes.

Kingston Receives Morning Salute On Cook's Program

Kingston received wide publicity this morning through the efforts of Thomas W. Miller, secretary to Mayor C. J. Heisselman, when the city was saluted over the air from Station WABC during the Phil Cook morning broadcast hour from 7 to 8 o'clock.

The materials used in presenting Kingston to the radio audience had been collected by Mr. Miller and forwarded to Phil Cook. The sketch outlining Kingston as a residential and business center attracted attention to the fact that this city was the first capital of the state of New York. It is located on route 9-W within easy reach of New York city.

In discussing the historical background of the city the announcer called attention to the fact that the first landing in 1609 of Hendrick Hudson and his men was on the beach in Poughkeepsie, and the Kingston was one of the first examples of Colonial objection to the tea tax, which was one of the causes of the Revolutionary War. As a result of Kingston's activities the village was burned by the British troops, but was rebuilt and in that work was assisted materially by a donation of $18,000 from Charleston, S. C.

Reference was made to the city for its industrial, residential and recreational facilities. In closing the salute mention was made that June 26 will be Kingston Day at the World's Fair in New York, and that this city would be the center of the annual Apple Blossom Festival to be held this year on May 6 and 7. The closing words of the salute were: "We extend our greetings to the mayor of Kingston, Conrad J. Heisselman, and to the mayor's secretary, Thomas W. Miller, who supplied the material for this broadcast."

France's Oracle

France has its own peculiar oracle in the hell holes of Voiron. These holes are regarded by local residents as a barometer of the country's fortune. Large pits filled with water, the hell holes acquired their name from a tradition that says they extend to the very depths of inferno. Their depth is actually unknown even today. The water which fills them is milky in color and is evidently supplied by some subterranean spring or river. At times they spout as high as six feet, a watery eruption which is said to presage some disaster to the nation.

Twenty-six pedestrians are killed in traffic accidents at night for every 10 pedestrians killed during daylight hours.

MAKE YOUR HOME AT HOME

It's Bound To Be Eaten

What family could resist eating a dish as tempting as the one illustrated below? I ask you! And you don't have to take my word for it. Just try this recipe and you'll soon learn the answer!

MARMALADE BAVARIAN

1 package orange-flavored gelatin, 1 3/4 cups hot water, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup heavy cream and 1/3 cup orange marmalade.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add salt. Chill until cold and sirupy. Fold in cream, whipped only until thick and shiny but not stiff. Fold in marmalade. Chill until slightly thickened. Turn into mold and chill until firm. Then unmold and garnish with whipped cream and additional orange marmalade. Serves 6.

PEANUT BUTTER DATE STICKS
1/2 cup sifted cake flour, 1/4 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon allspice, 1/4 cup triple-creamed shortening, 1/2 cup peanut butter, 1 cup granulated sugar, 2 eggs, well beaten, 2/3 cup finely cut dates, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and spices and sift together three times. Cream shortening, add peanut butter, blend thoroughly. Add sugar to eggs, beat with rotary beater until light and lemon colored. Add to peanut butter mixture and blend. Add flour mixture and beat thoroughly. Add dates and vanilla and mix well. Bake in paper-lined greased pan, 7 x 12 inches, in moderate oven (350°F.) 45 minutes. Turn out on rack and remove paper immediately. Cool and cut in 2 x 1-inch strips. Makes 36 strips.

Helps For Housecleaning Homemakers

LAUNDERING CURTAINS

Wash curtains frequently. Make rich suds with safe mild soap flakes. Use lukewarm to cool water, testing suds with back of wrist. Too warm water is more apt to make colors fade. Never soak colored curtains. Squeeze suds through the material. Don't rub as this may spread threads and cause holes. Rinse thoroughly. Starch sheer cotton curtains.

Squeeze out as much water as possible; but do not twist or pull. Roll in a Turkish towel, knead out excess moisture and unroll immediately.

Iron curtains lengthwise while slightly damp with a warm iron, or dry on stretchers. Press rayon and celanese curtains on the wrong side—lace and net on wrong side over Turkish towel or padding. Press cotton and linen curtains on wrong side and then on right.

Hints

Moths in carpets can be prevented by scrubbing the floors with a strong solution of hot water and salt just before laying the carpet. Sprinkling salt on the carpet before sweeping helps to destroy moths.

How carefully do you read the label when you buy canned food for your dog? As a prized possession he deserves the best of food and the best of care. Look for the word, "Inspected." It is your assurance of quality.

DRAPERIES

Test before washing if possible, following same methods as for curtains. It is not advisable to wash lined draperies because of the difference in shrinkage of the two materials. The dye may also come through on the lining. Press cretonnes when slightly damp, not too wet, for streaking may occur.

SOFT, FLUFFY BLANKETS

Make extra rich lukewarm to cool suds with a mild soap. Hot water tends to shrink and mat wool. Squeeze suds gently through blanket but do not rub or twist. If using a machine, rub only 3 or 4 minutes. Use second suds if soil is not removed in few minutes. Never overload machine—wash one blanket at a time.

Rinse thoroughly in water of same temperature as suds. Dry in shade. Hang over parallel lines. Ease gently into shape. When dry, press binding with warm iron.

Clean Out The Corners

Here's another way to lighten the housecleaning burden. Clean out the corners first! I don't mean that literally, of course. What I am suggesting is that you clean the closets, chests, drawers and cupboards before you actually start tearing up the entire house for days of airing, scrubbing, painting, papering and the like.

You'll save yourself a lot of "pick up" and "run after" effort if you place all needed cleaning supplies in a small market basket to carry about from room to room. Include a scrub brush, chamois, cleaning, dusting and polishing cloths, ammonia, household cleanser, bar soap, household bleach and disinfectant, furniture polish and a pair of scissors. Each and every item has a place and a use in your cleaning program—an important place if you use the right item at the right time and in the right manner. Don't use substitutes or poor quality cleaning items. The best is none too good when it comes to saving backbreaking housecleaning labor.

PEACH BLUSH PIE

1 baked bran pastry shell, 2 1/2 cups canned sliced peaches, 2 cups peach juice and 1 package cherry gelatin.

Prepare all-bran pastry shell. Drain peaches thoroughly. Add enough water to juice to make 2 cups liquid. Heat liquid and dissolve gelatin in it. Chill only until mixture begins to congeal. Arrange peaches in pie shell and pour gelatin mixture over. Chill until firm. Top with whipped cream if desired.

BRAN PASTRY SHELL

1 1/2 cup bran, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup shortening, 5 tablespoons cold water (more or less).

Roll bran until fine and combine with flour and salt. Cut in shortening. Add water, a little at a time, until dough is moist enough to hold together. Roll out on lightly floured board to about 1/8 inch in thickness. Place rolled pastry loosely in pan. Trim edge, leaving about 1/4 inch of pastry beyond rim of pan. Fold extended edge under and flute. Prick pastry shell with a fork and bake in hot oven (450°F.) 10 to 15 minutes. Yield: Two 8-inch shells or one 2-crust pie.

Traver Reviews Hasbrouck Appeal

An appeal from a decision of justice's court of the town of Lloyd was taken up for trial Wednesday afternoon before Judge Traver and a jury. George W. Pratt, doing business as George W. Pratt & Son of Highland, brought an action against Joseph Hasbrouck of Modena to recover for lumber which had been sold to Egbert Harcourt of Modena. A verdict for Pratt was returned in justice's court and now Mr. Hasbrouck makes an appeal to the county court.

According to the statement of counsel in the case Mr. Pratt sold lumber to Harcourt for the sum of $184 and extended 30 days time. Mr. Harcourt did not meet the bill and gave up the farm property. Mr. Hasbrouck took the lumber to meet an obligation owed him and for that reason becomes involved in the present case. The transaction took place in 1938. Michael Nardone appear for plaintiff and Davis D. Corwin for appellant.

An efficiency expert estimates the average farm housewife takes more than 200,000 steps a year just to throw out the waste water.

New Jersey cut its traffic deaths in 1938 to 885 from 1,278 in 1937 and from an average of 1,191 for the three years preceding 1938.

HOME BUREAU

Modena Unit

Miss Mabel Knapp, of Middletown, gave a colorful and descriptive narrative of a recent trip to Australia, to members of the Modena Home Bureau unit, Friday afternoon at Mrs. Myron Coon's home in Plattekill. Miss Knapp spoke of the inhabitants of Vancouver, Australia, New Zealand, Hawaii, Honolulu and Fiji Islands, their customs and habits, relating many amusing incidents connected with her visit to those places. The picturesque wonders of landscape and architecture of the countries were vividly described. Miss Knapp exhibited pictures, booklets and souvenirs, which she had secured on her trip, the souvenirs included the type of wearing apparel which apparently reduced the family laundry to a minimum, beads, leathers, money, bracelets and models of animals common to the country.

Miss Knapp spoke of a Home Bureau leader traveling 150 miles to conduct a meeting; their methods of raising funds, their projects and their junior group of young women, who were potential homemakers, were interestingly related by Miss Knapp. At the conclusion of the talk, afternoon tea was served with Mrs. Werner Pasbjerg pouring. An informal session followed when a social time was enjoyed.

Miss Knapp was presented with a hot muffin server, in appreciation of her cooperative manner in sharing her traveling experience and lore with others. Those in attendance were Miss Knapp, of Middletown, and three friends from Goshen: Mrs. Werner Pasbjerg, Mrs. William Barrett, Mrs. Siah Roosa, Mrs. Walter Bernard of Clintondale; Mrs. Gershon Mount, Mrs. Eber Coy, Miss Marian Palmer, Mrs. George Altheusen, Ardona; Mrs. Frank Black, Mrs. Lester Arnold, Mrs. Joseph Hasbrouck, Mrs. Matthew Chambers, Miss Glennie Wager, Modena; Mrs. Albert Butler, Mrs. M. Augusta Johnston, Mrs. Myron Coons and Miss Mary Anderson.

A cupboard conference will be held Wednesday, April 26 at Mrs. Winfield Jenkins' home in Clinton-dale.

Two card parties are being planned for the Modena unit at an early date. The date and place will be announced later.

Kingston Leads Cities In Low Relief Costs

During February Cost Per Case Here Was $24.47; Local Cost of WPA Is Not Included

That relief needs are being efficiently administered in Kingston is shown by a comparison of costs compiled from state relief reports for the month of February, which show that this city has the lowest cost per case and the lowest cost per capita of population of any city in the state.

During February there were 862 cases on relief in the city, numbering 2,256 persons, who were maintained at a cost of $21,087. The cost per case was $24.47, while the cost per capita of population was 75 cents.

In New York state as a whole the cost per case was $34.26 and the per capita cost was $1.30.

The figures for Kingston include all forms of public assistance, including home relief, old age relief, relief to blind, and aid to dependent children.

The following table shows the comparison between Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Newburgh:

Cases	Persons	Cost	Cost per Case	Cost per Capita
Poughkeepsie	1,824	4,489	$24.61	$1.22
Newburgh	1,712	4,825	$28.18	$1.45
Kingston	862	2,962	$24.47	.75

Home Relief Only

The cost for home relief only in several cities in the state follows:

Cases	Persons	Cost	Cost per Case	Cost per Capita
Jamestown	1,151	3,689	$32.05	$1.33
Auburn	876	3,325	$37.96	$1.01
Watertown	1,138	4,122	$36.25	$1.01
Rome	821	3,089	$37.62	$1.07
Elmira	1,585	5,083	$32.05	$1.07
Amsterdam	556	1,692	$30.43	.43
White Plains	742	2,718	$36.63	.97
Poughkeepsie	1,088	3,532	$32.46	.74
Newburgh	1,117	4,042	$36.20	.99
Kingston	467	1,822	$11.26	.40

A study of the above tables show that Kingston has the lowest cost per case and the lowest cost per capita of population of any city mentioned, both as to the cost of all categories of relief, as well as for home relief.

WPA Not Included

The local cost of maintaining families employed by the WPA is not included in the figures given. Mayor C. J. Heiselman stated today that the city's share for materials, equipment, supplies and other expenses connected with keeping about 600 men employed on WPA projects in Kingston averaged about $10,000 per month.

More Men on WPA

The mayor stated that Kingston had more men employed on WPA than any other city of its size in the state.

He attributed this to the willingness of the city to sponsor suitable projects of a civic value; to the willingness of the city to contribute $10,000 a month to keep the men employed; and to the close cooperation which exists between the city administration and the WPA officials in working out the problem of providing employment on worthwhile projects.

County Council Further Plans For Day at Fair

Completion of county-wide committee lists, plans for a Women's Auxiliary, suggestions for a motorcade to the Fair grounds, the proposed banquet, and a low excursion rate on the New York Central were some of the things that occupied the attention of the Ulster County Council, sponsor of Ulster County-Kingston Day at the New York World's Fair, at a meeting held at the Governor Clinton Hotel Wednesday night.

Suggested names for chairmen of permanent committees were confirmed as follows: Henry R. Bright, executive committee; Edward H. Remmert, Kingston, finance; Walter Clarke, Milton, program; Eugene A. Freer, Kingston, transportation; Edward M. Huben, Rosendale, publicity.

Final selection of names to comprise the membership of the various committees was made. In all there are about 175 committee members, selected from and representing the county as a whole.

Steps also were taken to form a Women's Auxiliary. Chairman Bright said that letters will be mailed to a few representative women in the county asking them to meet with the executive committee of the Council at the Governor Clinton on Friday, April 28. At that time it is proposed to select a list of names to comprise a women's organization to work in cooperation with the committees already set up.

The various committees have been asked to hold meetings next week to discuss their work and formulate plans, also to estimate how much money will be required in order that the finance committee may take steps to raise the necessary funds. The plan to raise funds by the sale of membership tickets, such as is being done to finance the Apple Blossom Festival, will be expanded.

Chairman E. A. Freer of the transportation committee suggested that a motorcade be organized for Ulster County-Kingston Day. The idea would be to have the various units escorted from their home localities to some point in the southern end of the county and from there proceed in a body, down 9-W to the Fair grounds.

Word was received that the New York Central Railroad would be willing to cooperate and run a special excursion on June 26—Ulster County-Kingston Day. Providing at least 300 persons made the trip tickets would be sold at a very substantial reduction from regular rates, less than half the usual charge.

It was reported that work was progressing on the plan for a banquet to be held on the Fair grounds on Ulster County Day. Rufus Van Aken, who is chairman of the Ulster County Society in New York committee making arrangements for the affair, was in Kingston this week. He is hard at work making arrangements for the mechanical details of the proposed dinner and enlisting the full cooperation of members of the New York society.

It is hoped to have at least 400 attending the dinner, which will be held at some place, on the Fair grounds. The location has not yet been selected, but the committee has some half a dozen desirable apartments for rent at the Clinton Apartments.

For information and inspection call at the front desk of The Governor Clinton Hotel.

Two Ellenville Women Hurt in Morning Crash

Mrs. Francis Bishop and Mrs. Agnes Rowan of Ellenville were treated at the Kingston Hospital early Wednesday morning for injuries sustained when the car in which they were riding was in collision near the Walker farm on Route 28. George Bueltman, driver of the car, and Mrs. Bueltman reported no injuries.

The Bueltman car was being driven to Ellenville from Prattsville when it was struck on its left front by a car driven by Mrs. Mavis J. Ford of Shandaken, who was on her way home from New York. The Bueltman car had a hole through the left front door and the left rear fender was damaged. Mrs. Ford's car had a smashed left front fender.

Deputy Sheriff Charles McCullough investigated the accident and Trooper Arthur Reilly also made an investigation. No arrests were made.

CASHOUSE GANG PLAYS BALL, but they're not the St. Louis Cardinals. Instead it's a group of U. S. Army reserve officers at Louisville, getting accustomed to gas masks. The smoke is a mixture of harmless chemicals and a bit of tear gas to make things realistic. Earl Major, artillery officer, is poised for the pitch. Lieut. A. J. Williams is behind the plate.

NO SMILES IN IRISH EYES of these members of the London Irish Rifles, for theirs is the grim business of war preparedness. The soldiers are shown in Pirbright practicing with the new Bren gun carrier. Elsewhere in England the king and queen were participating in preparedness measures, inspecting gun placements and taking part in air raid drills.

SUPREME ADMIRATION was registered by seven-year-old William O. "Bumble" Douglas, Jr., when he saw his father become an associate justice of the United States Supreme Court in Washington. The law book, for the moment, is forgotten.

SINGING FOR SUPPER is all right for some, but Herbert Janssen, famed baritone, believes in taking a more active hand. Here he adds sherry wine to butter, salt, paprika, three eggs, and cream to prepare his favorite recipe for newburg sauce.

OUT OF THE PAST RIDES GEORGE WASHINGTON from his estate at Mount Vernon, Va., headed north in a reenactment of the first president's journey to New York for inauguration 150 years ago. In the 18th century coach and four rode Denys Worlman, New York cartoonist, playing role of father of his country. Trip followed the route originally taken by Washington.

BUILDING FOOT POWER FOR FOOTBALL is the object of Carl Snively (right), head coach at Cornell University, who's shown as he led his squad out for a bicycle run at Ithaca, N. A CIGAR ON A TRICYCLE is the general appearance of this new experimental pursuit plane, just purchased by the U. S. War department. It's the XP-39 Bell fighter, a radical venture in new design. The single seater has tricycle retractable landing gear and is powered by a single supercharged in-line 12-cylinder engine. The ship is now at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio.

'OH, WHAT A PIG!' seems to be the exclamation of Thomas E. Younger brother John Martid, age 3, sits on his mother's lap, not so much impressed.

Deal Is Made Lumber Deal

Appeal brought by Joseph H. Harcourt, Modena feed and lumber, in county court was set for this morning before Traver and a jury. Shortly after noon testimony was closed and the summations begun. Mr. Harcourt appeals from a judgment of justice's court of the town of where George W. Pratt, business as George W. Pratt, secured a judgment against the lumber transactions. Harcourt claims that he notified when he took possession of the lumber on the Fowler farm. Harcourt had been vacated by Eggar Harcourt, to whom Harcourt had sold several consignments of lumber. He claims he went to the farm and learned that the lumber was not there, but that it was being used for certain lumber on the premises. He told Fowler, father of Harcourt, that he was like to take the lumber and was unused and apply it to the bill which Harcourt owed the lumber and feed.

On the stand Mr. Harcourt said Fowler had said he could not do that until he talked to Harcourt. Next day he went to Harcourt and Fowler told him to take the lumber. He loaded it and carried it away and allowed a credit of $157.78 on the Harcourt bill.

Later he was told by Pratt that the lumber taken was the property of Pratt and that it had been sold under a conditional sales agreement to Harcourt. A trial was had in justice's court and a judgment was secured by Pratt. Harcourt appeals from that judgment.

Mr. Harcourt said he did not know whether the lumber was the correct lumber he had delivered but it was the same kind and when he asked Fowler to turn it over, Fowler said he would not do so until he talked to Harcourt. Next day when Harcourt called he said Fowler went to the house and returned and said to load the lumber on the truck and assisted in so doing.

Mr. Harcourt said he was first notified of Harcourt leaving the farm when he was asked to buy a team of horses. He went to the place to look over the team and saw the lumber and asked for possession from Fowler. At the time he was accompanied by a Mr. Gray of Middletown. Gray said consent to take the lumber had been given Mr. Harcourt.

Michael Nardone appears for plaintiff and David W. Corwin for Mr. Harcourt.

Jurors were excused until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Stocks Advanced On Wednesday

There was a modest pickup in dealings compared with Wednesday's slow proceedings, but the ticker tape frequently loaded. Transfers were at the rate of approximately 700,000 shares. Profit taking near the final hour reduced top marks in the majority of cases.

Wall Street apparently interpreted as mildly favorable the Mussolini speech at Rome today which, while critical of the plea of peace by non-aggression guarantees, was hardly as bellicose as forecast.

There were a few cheering signs on the domestic industrial front, including a more than seasonal jump in last week's freight loadings despite coal mining shut-downs caused by the labor negotiations deadlock. The coal situation was viewed as one of the most important handicaps in the current business picture.

On the New York board prominent stocks on the rise were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Westinghouse, du Pont, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, American Smelting, Standard Oil of N. J., Great Northern and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Tilting higher by as much as a point or so in the curb were Electric Bond & Share, Standard Steel, Spring, Lockheed and International Petroleum.

Farm Bureau Vegetable Group Reports Progress

The Farm Bureau vegetable committee met at the Farm Bureau Office at 74 John street last night to check up on the progress made to date in the campaign for the control of European corn borer in Ulster county. Chairman Gross Schoonmaker asked each committeeman to report what he had been able to accomplish in his community, and also asked Assistant Farm Bureau Manager Cyril Small to report on activities conducted through his office.

Committeemen reported that they had interested 88 corn growers in the program and signed them up as cooperators, giving each a special cooperator sign to be posted on his land. These 88 cooperators grow approximately 1,900 acres of sweet corn and 700 acres of other corn. Thus nearly one-half of the commercial sweet corn acreage in the county already has been covered.

The committee is urging all citizens of Ulster county to cooperate in the campaign by destroying all corn stubble, stalks, or cobs before May 15. After that date the corn borer worms, which are now hibernating in corn refuse, will change to moths which then fly to new corn fields and lay eggs for a new crop of worms.

Committeemen present at last night's meeting were: C. L. Allen, Lomontville; Benjamin Van Wageningen, Lomontville; John Schoonmaker, Accord; Benjamin Davis, Kerhonkson; Gross Schoonmaker, Accord; Edward Davenport, Accord; Louis Kurdt, Hurley; John Nicklin, Marlborough; and Jacob Schreiber of New Paltz.

Seventeen Teams Enter The City Softball League

Postponed Games Bring Bargains To Baseball Fans

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The silver lining slogan salesmen in all the major league cities might make a good thing of pointing out to furious fans today that every fracas postponed now means a doubleheader some summer afternoon.

Fourteen of the first 19 games in baseball's centennial season were sabotaged by the weather man and the fans really are the only persons concerned who won't suffer as a result.

It may be hard to convince the people of Chicago, for instance, this is true. They haven't seen even an exhibition game during this year of the abundant April showers. Yet they not only will get their bargain bills, but their Monty Stratton benefit exhibition, too.

On the other hand the clubs aren't likely to recover all the money this week's rain has cost them. Ed Barrow, president of the New York Yankees, estimated "the rain, so far, has cost us about $40,000. Of course we'll play off the games in doubleheaders, but when you lose an opening day game or a Sunday game, you never get that money back."

The ball players don't like doubleheaders and even if they did, they are all itching to get started immediately.

While the Tuesday tussle in which Detroit nailed down its opener against the Chicago White Sox remains the only game yet played in the American League, the National has managed to squeeze in at least one game a day.

The seniors probably would have missed yesterday, though, if it hadn't been Patriots Day in Boston. Scheduled to celebrate the holiday with a morning and an afternoon game, the Bees and the Philadelphia Phillies managed to struggle through the first of the pair to the satisfaction of 1952 spectators, smallest opening day crowd in Boston's history.

The solo was as homey as baked beans and brown bread to Bostonians because it lasted 12 innings and favored the Bees, 7 to 6. Out of 75 games played at home by Casey Stengel's merry men last year, 34 were decided by one run and 17 of the others by two runs.

In the end it was one of the transplanted American Leaguers now flourishing in the National who broke up the game. Al Simmons, obtained during the winter from the Washington Senators, singled Debs Garms home.

There was some justification for hopes that the season would swing out today on a grand scale. Forecasts were generally fair for most sections.

The lineup is still the same as that which was left at the post reading weather reports yesterday. In the National League Cincinnati is at Chicago, New York at Brooklyn, St. Louis at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia at Boston; in the American Cleveland at St. Louis, Chicago at Detroit, Washington at Philadelphia and Boston at New York.

Unless able to get going today, some of these teams faced a delay of more than a week in holding their first "at home" because all will change partners tomorrow and teams now at home will go on the road.

St. Joseph's Team Will Meet Tonight

Tonight at 7.30 in the school hall, the first meeting of the St. Joseph's softball team will be held under the guidance of the Holy Name recreation committee. Two squadrons will be formed for participation in the proposed Catholic Church League embracing parishes throughout the county. Candidates for the senior team are requested to attend or contact Chairman D. Ronald "Red" McDermott.

A junior and senior softball combine will be organized for municipal activity this season and a large attendance is urged. Teams from St. Mary's, St. Peter's, St. Ann's of Sawkill, Immaculate Conception and other Catholic societies will compete in the loop or organized by Father Roth. Indications presage a strongly balanced loop and St. Joseph's plan on placing a strong contender in the field.

St. Remy Team Will Hold Dance at Wittenberg Club

Woodstock, April 20.—Through the efforts of Carson Emberson, the use of the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club house has been obtained for the purpose of holding a dance for the benefit of the St. Remy Baseball Club on Saturday evening, April 22. It is expected that the orchestra of the Zena Country Club will contribute the music for the evening. Both square and round dances will help make the Saturday night's entertainment a success.

All the old regulars of both the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club and the Zena Country Club are cordially invited. In fact the entertainment committee will welcome anyone who likes good, old fashioned country square dances.

William Douglas, secretary of the Wittenberg Sportsmen's Club, announces that the regular Saturday night square dances at the club house will be open next week, April 25, and calls attention to the fact that this week's dance, April 22, is run under the auspices of the St. Remy Baseball Club, the hall merely being loaned by the Wittenberg Club.

The Hercules Bowling League concluded its season recently when the E. B.'s defeated the Tetleys for the league honors. The winning team is shown examining the score card following the match. They are, left to right, seated: Ray Avery, Lester Hotaling and Frederick Scott. Standing in the same order are Jack Morton, James Goghan and Ronald McDermott. Frederick Scott and Ray Avery were elected president and secretary, respectively, of next year's league.

On a dash from second to home, Third Baseman Emmett J. Mueller of the Phillies (No. 2) is tagged out in a pileup with Boston Bee Catcher Al Lopez. It happened in fourth inning of game at Boston. Lopez has just thrown the ball in attempt to catch Del Young of the Phillies, who hit to right field. Unpure is Moran.

100 Trotters Will Arrive in Goshen To Await Season

Goshen, N. Y., April 20 (AP).—This capital of the harness racing world, after a peaceful winter almost entirely undisturbed by pounding hoofs, again is alive with the sights and sounds associated with Grand Circuit equine talent. The vanguard of the stables which have been training below the Mason and Dixon line are swinging back into home quarters.

More than 100 trotters and pacers will arrive at historic Goodtime tracks here before the week-ends. They will be in charge of Trainers Billy Dickerson, Harry Whitney, Rube Parker, Harry Pownall and Fred Egan. Most of the horses have been trained at Orlando, Fla., and Aiken, S. C.

Prominent Hambletonian candidates will be among the newcomers with Nibble Llanover, owned by Dunbar W. Bostwick and his sister, Mrs. Ogden Phillips, both of Old Westbury, N. Y., leading in interest. Bag-Piper, another highly-regarded three-year-old owned by E. Roland Harriman of New York, is arriving by van in a few days to continue his workouts under the veteran Dickerson.

On the welcoming committee here is bewhiskered Pat O'Connell, who moved into Historic track last week from North Randall when the Cleveland speedway was turned over to the runners. With him he brought Kelley, the aged trotter which won the Good Time stake last year against the stiffest competition seen on a half-mile track in many seasons.

Goshen will launch Grand Circuit racing in the east this summer when Harriman's Historic track puts on a $25,000 program July 3. After a month's sojourn in New England, the big-time loop will return to Goshen, and the mile track will race for a week of racing August 7-12, with the Hambletonian on the 9th.

FASTEST MARATHON IN HISTORY

Terzan Brown, a Narragansett Indian, ran the fastest marathon in history when he won the Boston Athletic Association's annual 26 mile, 385 yard event. He's shown hitting the finish line in Boston, driving rain, for a time of two hours, 28 minutes, 51.8 seconds. He became the first runner in the world to break 2 1/2 hours for such an endurance race.

K.H.S. Nine Awaits Break in Weather

Marking time with the weather man Coach Cliff Miller of the Kingston High School baseball team is clamoring for the good old sunshine once again. Since the call for candidates last month the Maroon boss has only seen his cohorts in action but once and that drill was stopped by rain.

Next Saturday afternoon is the opening day for the local team but there's a possibility that the inaugural ceremonies will be cancelled for at least another week unless the weather man shows some mercy for training. All teams comprising the DUSO League have been touched by the rainy season and all of their practices have been marred.

In Kingston this season, Boss Miller has a job cut out for him in no uncertain manner. Only Ray Lindhurst, able catcher; Hank Tiano, pitching prospect, and Captain Jimmy Ashdown will be around from last year's varsity to rebuild the club.

With Gus Brinier, a light hitter, and Jim Ashdown scheduled to take positions at first and third respectively, Miller must find men to fill the shortstop and keystone sack assignments. Both McLane and Coley have graduated. So far, Frank Dobie, George Schirich, Tony Bernato and Bill Gavis appear to have the inside track but anything may happen and probably will.

Daily drills at the Athletic Field will start as soon as the weather conditions permit.

Jones Dairy Takes Upper Hudson Title

The Jones Dairy keggers rolled a 2838 last night at Catskill to clinch the Upper Hudson Valley bowling championship. The match rolled on a neutral alley against the Thompson's Grill of Hudson was one of the closest experienced in the loop this season. A crowd of spectators that numbered over 150 were present to witness the outcome of the deadlocked teams in the rolloff match.

High single honors for the evening were divided between Kelder and Hanley who both rolled a high of 233 and Kelder took the series with a 617.

Ad Jones, president of the league and sponsor of the team was pleased with the enthusiastic following the keggers have had during the past season. A banquet at Thompson's Grill in Hudson this Saturday will officially close the season and the award to the victor of the league will be made at that time.

The scores for the match follow:

Harness Horses

Pinehurst, N. C. (AP).—Pinehurst claims to be the most popular harness-horse winter-training center. One hundred and eleven horses are quartered here, a dozen more than in the second most popular spot, Longwood, Florida.

A capacity crowd is expected at the Municipal Auditorium on Friday night, April 21, when the Kingston A. C. will present their weekly boxing show featuring seven star bouts. The main attraction will bring together Charlie Ketchuck, Binghamton champion who defeated Buddy Moore, and Henry Jones, Metropolitan A. A. U. champ. Ketchuck conquered Jones on a previous occasion and hopes to keep up his good record by scoring another win over Jones when they step into the local ring on Friday night. Jones, who was recently a winner in Madison Square Garden, should give Ketchuck a hard battle.

Gone Pinter of Binghamton should have a real problem on his hands when he meets Danny Cox of New York. Cox will try to square the account with Pinter, who holds one decision over him. Pete Dubaldi of Newburgh will tangle with Richard Cremar of New York. They are down to do five rounds—or less, according to the punching power displayed.

Another Newburgh boy and a favorite with the fans is Dutch Williams, a real slugger, who will fight it out with Bob Albino of Binghamton. This match is expected to turn out one of the best on the card.

Jimmy (Windmill) Brown, New York sensation, will mix it up with Johnny Andrews, Albany flash, in a scheduled five rounder.

The preliminaries will consist of two three-round bouts. The first of these will feature Frankie Albright, Kingston slugger, who will meet Roy Collier, Amsterdam hurricane and conquerer of Cliff Gaskins.

In another three round match, Jackie Hogan, a local boy and real action fighter, will slug it out with Smally Johnson, a hard hitting youngster from Albany.

The first bout will start at 9 o'clock.

Kinneys Are Eliminated By Dye Works; Fullers And Crusaders Advance

Sparked and paced by the French Dye Work-Kinney Shoe clash last night at the Y. M. C. A. the Gold Medal basketball tournament resumed its merry way. The cleaners copped a thriller in their clash while the Fuller Clermonts and the Poughkeepsie Crusaders romped to a fairly easy registered triumph.

Making their second appearance in two successive nights the Crusaders of Poughkeepsie made up for a late arrival by pounding out a 37 to 19 win over Thompson's Laundry. The second battle offered a natural hook-up between the French Dye Works and Kinneys. The cleaners, on a third and fourth period spurge, copped the decision, with the final scoreboard tally reading 23 to 23. Another Kingston outfit remained in the fight for honors as the powerful Fuller Clermonts copped the Corliss Brothers of Poughkeepsie to the tune of 39 to 29.

Arriving at the local boards at 7:45 and with only a squad of five men, the Crusaders hopped on the bandwagon last and rattled the Thompson entry full of holes. Nate Dolfinger and Chet Podes were again in rare form with 11 and 8 chukkers respectively.

The Crusaders took an 18 to 6 lead at the end of the first half and then put on the finishing touches. Ernie Bartoff of the losers lathered the twine for seven points but his usual fine work was slowed to a walk by the more impressive work of the visitors. After spotting Kinney's scanty 14 to 13 lead at the end of the half, the French Dye Work machine started to move and didn't cease until a win had been realized. With three minutes to go the Dye Works still clung to a one-point margin, 23-22. Then the bombardment functioned perfectly with Jessie Shultis and Chipe Rhymer leading the parade. Johnny Gilday and Chipe Rhymer were high with 11 and 8 in that order.

Completely outclassing their opponents from the start, the Fuller Clermonts knocked the Corliss Brothers of Poughkeepsie out of the running with a 39 to 29 victory. Charlie Bock and Hank Krum led the assault with 14 and 13 points. The shirtmakers poured out a 23 to 8 topker at the half and then came back to make it a clincher easily. Harry Greco, Key and McLaughlin played well despite the loss.

Tonight's Card
Only two games are scheduled for tonight with the tournament going into the back stretch. At 7:30 probably one of the best skirmishes will feature. The Fuller Clermonts and the French Dye Works will collide. And at 8:30 the Newburgh du Ponts, featuring Myron Embler, will meet the Poughkeepsie Crusaders.

Dorothy Leonard New AAU Indoor Swimming Queen

Chicago, April 20 (AP).—The national A. A. U. had a new indoor swimming queen today—17-year-old Dorothy Leonard of Worcester, Mass.—but Arlita Smith of Chicago continued to rule lowboard diving mermaids.

Miss Leonard, New England 220-yard free style champion, entering her first national meet after two years of competition, dethroned Detroit's Halina Tomska last night to win the American title.

She overhauled the defending champion at the finish, winning by a stroke in 2 minutes 35.3 seconds. Almost three seconds slower than Miss Tomska's American record.

Lowboard diving honors went to Arlita Smith for the third successive year after a close duel with another Chicagoan, Claudia Eckert.

The third national title decided in the Medinal pool was the 400-yard relay, which the Women's Swimming Association of New York won in 4:18.9 minutes, five and a half seconds over the record. The winning team was made up of Lorraine Fisher, Gloria Callen, Helen Rains and Elizabeth Ryan. The Broadwood Club of Philadelphia was runner up.

Pay Movie Students
"Centro Sperimentale di Cinematografia" at Rome, only government operated movie school in the world, has been forced to cease its annual display advertising campaign for applicants. More than 6,000 boys and girls applied at the start of the course. Only 100 are selected, 50 of whom usually survive the acid tests. At the end of the three year course only four or five actors graduate, capable of playing all parts. During the course the government pays them 20 lire a day ($1). Non-Italian students from Egypt, France, Germany, England and Central and South America pay only $5 for the entire three-year course.

New Device Flies Plane At Ten Miles an Hour

EAST PORTCHESTER, CONN.—Invention of a stabilizing device permitting airplanes to fly at heretofore unheard of low speeds and to take off after a run of 40 or 50 feet is claimed by Daniel Thompson, a mechanical engineer.
Thompson believes the invention will be invaluable for bombing planes in war times because the speed can be checked to 10 or 15 miles an hour, and thus assure greater accuracy.
The device, adjusted to the motor and propellers, can be fitted to any plane, according to the inventor, and will "revolutionize the airplane industry."

Oldest Palm Tree Is Raided by Vandals

BRISBANE, AUSTRALIA.—The oldest living thing on earth, a giant palm which is believed to be 15,000 years old, has been replanted by botany students.
The tree was uprooted by vandals recently.
Called Grandfather Peter, it stands 25 feet high. Others in the grove vary in age from 3,000 to 8,000 years. These palms—they are not strictly speaking trees, are a cross between a fern and a palm—grow exceedingly slowly. The fern-like leaves are six to seven feet long, 15 inches wide, rigid, and beautifully green and glossy. The palms bear a huge seed cone, not unlike a pineapple, and one was found to weigh 85 pounds.

France's St. Clodwald Loses Historical Charm

To the little town of St. Clodwald in France, or St. Cloud as it is called today, there once came all the grandeur of royalty to gorgeous fetes; today there comes only memories, even tourists pass it by, forgetful of the marvel of the past.
With the destruction of its celebrated chateau, built by Louis XIV in 1660, it lost a favorite royal residence, which had witnessed many a notable event. Here the Regent d'Orleans received Peter the Great in 1717. In 1785 it was sold for 6,000,000 francs to Queen Marie Antoinette, and here she resided during the early days of the Revolution. Here the coup d'etat occurred which made Napoleon first consul and here Napoleon III was baptized in 1805 in the presence of Napoleon and Josephine. Here Bonaparte married Marie Louise, and here the allied sovereigns met after the fall of the first empire and here Blucher, booted and spurred, slept in Napoleon's bed, and here on October 13, 1870, it went up in flames in connection with the siege of Paris.

Boy Is Hurt When Bike And Car Are in Collision

Robert Hughes, a boy residing at 353 Broadway, suffered bruises and cuts when his bicycle was in collision with an auto driven by Walter W. Wood of Route 1, Kingston, at Broadway and O'Reilly street. The boy was removed to the Kingston Hospital by Mr. Wood, from which, after his injuries were treated, he returned home.

According to Mr. Wood's report to the police he was driving on Broadway when the bicycle struck his right front fender.
This was the first bicycle accident to be reported in Kingston so far this year.

Last year there was a total of 18 accidents in which bicycle riders were injured, some seriously.

Flowers 'Put to Bed'
Hundreds of flowers on Rome's principal streets are "put to bed" every night by a corps of workers who cover them with large tarpaulins. Special frames keep the canvas from injuring the flowers, which are changed all over the city every 15 days, the type of flower depending on the season of the year. The city maintains a special nursery for cultivation of these flowers.

Fifty-six percent of all traffic victims in the daytime are pedestrians.
